STEPHENS' SELECTIONS WITHDRAWN

Richardson Cancels Appointments of Cooper as Insurance Head and Several Other Late Nominations

Neumiller Will Not Go to Prison Board; Charities Body Fails to Meet Approval of State Executive

BY UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Governor Friend W. Richardson today withdrew the last minute appointments made by Governor Stephens before his retirement, including that of insurance commissioner, state prison director and members of the board of charities and corrections.

As a result of the executive's action, E. C. Cooper, San Francisco, is ousted from the $10,000 yearly office of state insurance commissioner, to which he was named last week by Stephens.

Charles Neumiller, Stockton, will not step into office as state prison director and the members of the board of charities and corrections selected by Stephens will not take over the duties of that commission. They include: Rev. Charles A. Brown, San Francisco; Jessica B. Pickett, Berkeley; E. H. Pendleton, Oakland.

NEUMILLER LOSES AS PRISON DIRECTOR

Governor Richardson is expected to name his own appointees to the positions within the next few days. They will come before the legislature for ratification.

None of the other late Stephens appointments was included in Richardson's message.

The senate will not fight appointment by Governor Richardson of his own men in place of the six chosen by Stephens. This was the word given out by anti-administration forces following a short caucus after the senate adjourned.

FIGHT TO BE MADE FOR COMMITTEE CONTROL

Apparently a compromise was reached in the caucus. It is understood that the anti-Richardson forces of the senate will let the appointments go by unchallenged, but will make their fight for control of senate committees.

Word that the anti-administration forces will line up solidly behind Lieutenant Governor Young in his committee appointments, was given out after the caucus. The progressive forces claim 22 votes.

The withdrawals have been sent to the rules committee, members of which have not yet been announced. No further action will be taken until the committees are named and make a report to the floor.

Senate confirmation is necessary for these appointments; the assembly is not required to act on them, however.

Appointment of committees will probably be made tomorrow or next day. If representatives of the compromise are correct the fight of Richardson forces to take away from Lieutenant Governor Young the appointment of committees will probably not reach the floor.

GOVERNOR EARLY AT NEW DESK

Richardson arrived at his flower decked desk. The first visitor was Senator and President of the Senate Pro Tem Arthur Breed of Oakland. The visit of Breed just prior to Richardson's request on the senate taken to noon that day assured the new governor of ample votes to hold up the appointments.

Then various officials came in to pay their respects. Later several editors went into conference with the new governor on matters of state. They included T. P. Cochrane, San Rafael Independent; W. A. Rugg, Martinez Gazette; J. E. McDowell, Alameda Times-Star; J. J. Crampton, Orange News; Robert Walker, Vallejo Times-Herald; and Will F. Blake, Gilroy Advocate.

On duty in the outer office as secretaries were Joseph Vickers, in place of Mrs. Vincent Albright, and Harry Lutgens, in place of Henry Frazer.

Upstairs the board of control was in office. Mrs. Nellie Pierce and George Radcliffe, the two members, received a string of visitors.

$2,000,000 Expended On Greek Refugees

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Red Cross announced today that it had so far expended for supplies for Greek refugees more than $2,000,000 for the relief of refugees in Greece and adjacent islands. This does not include, it was explained, total operating costs in Greece and for contract obligations. Food clothing and medical supplies purchased to date amount to $1,214,686.

Thieves Get Her Trousseau

MISS HELEN RIEGELHAUPT, daughter of Dr. H. L. Riegelhaupt, soon to become a bride, whose wedding clothes have been stolen.

BURGLARS TAKE TROUSSEAU, GEMS

Daughter of Dr. H. L. Riegelhaupt Loses Bridal Outfit; Neighbor Also Robbed.

With her marriage to August Thierly of San Leandro, only a few weeks away, Miss Helen Riegelhaupt, daughter of Dr. H. L. Riegelhaupt, is in despair today following the burglary of her home, 573 Rosal avenue, yesterday, during which her complete trousseau, as well as jewelry and furs, were stolen.

After ransacking the Riegelhaupt home in the heart of Oakland's exclusive residential district, the same thieves, according to police detectives, crossed the street and broke into the residence of Paul S. Lossman where they secured clothing, furs, silver and jewelry.

That one of the burglars was a woman, who in all probability kept watch while her male companion did the actual robbing of the houses, was the theory upon which inspectors are working today in an effort to capture the thieves.

Several women's footprints outside a window through which entrance was gained to the Riegelhaupt home, gave rise to this belief. The loot carried away from both residences will probably total $3500, according to estimates today by Mrs. Riegelhaupt and Mrs. Lossman. Of this amount they $1000 from the latter home. A complete check of the missing valuables had not been made.

Mrs. Riegelhaupt said she locked the house yesterday afternoon and went down town to meet her husband and daughter. They had dinner together and went to the theater, discovered the robbery when they returned.

Mrs. Lossman left home about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and returned about 7. When she got in the house she heard a bedroom window bang, and believes it was the burglars making a hurried exit.

S. P. Mechanic Hit By Train; Dead

Ed Murphy, of 1481 Seventh street, employed as a mechanic by the Southern Pacific company, is dead at the Emergency hospital from injuries he received when struck by a west bound Southern Pacific electric train early today almost in front of his home. The accident occurred as Murphy was crossing the street on his way to work.

GIRL TELLS OF EXILE BY KU KLUX KLAN

Dr. McKoin One of Two Named by Addie Hamilton in Telling How She Was Driven to Little Rock

Witness Says Former Mayor of Mer Rouge Threatened Tar and Feathers if She Ever Dared to Come Back

BASTROP, La., Jan. 10 (By the Associated Press).—Addie May Hamilton, known as "Daughter of the Klan," declared on the witness stand in the open hearing investigation today into the slaying of Wait Daniel and Thomas Richards that she was forced to leave her home near Mer Rouge and was deported from the state by "The Ku Klux."

She named Dr. B. M. McKoin, former mayor of Mer Rouge, and "Pink" Kirkpatrick as two of the party of men who, she testified, came to her mother's home one night, took her away and put her aboard a train for Little Rock, Ark., the home of her sister. She gave her age as 17.

"How do you know the Ku Klux sent you to Little Rock?" asked George S. Guion, who began the questioning.

"Because Dr. McKoin and 'Pink' Kirkpatrick and about six others came to my mother's house about 10:30 o'clock at night and told me they were going to send me away."

"Do you know positively it was Dr. McKoin and Kirkpatrick?"

"Yes, sir, I recognized Dr. McKoin, who was masked, but he was the only one doing any talking. They came to the house and pulled their guns and told my mother that Addie May will have to leave town tonight."

"My mother asked them why. 'Because,' Dr. McKoin said, 'Addie has been leading an immoral life.' My mother said 'Why don't you send others away?' Dr. McKoin said 'We are going to.'"

"My mother got down on her knees and pleaded, but they made me leave. They told me if anybody showed their heads out of the door they would 'blow 'em off.' They made me leave without a hat."

"Dr. McKoin struck my mother when she made a final plea for me to be allowed to remain. My mother attempted to shove them out of the room. She begged them to let her go to the depot. They refused. They put me in an automobile and Dr. McKoin gave me $1 for my fare to Little Rock. He told me if I didn't catch the train I would be tarred and feathered the next day."

"I was put on the back seat of the automobile and 'Pink' Kirkpatrick threw his legs across my lap."

"What did he do that for?"

"I don't know."

"How much was the fare to Little Rock?"

"Six dollars and fifty-three cents."

"Did you have any other money?"

"Yes, sir."

"When was this?"

BRITISH PLAN PROTEST ON OCCUPATION

U. S. FORCE TO RETURN HOME IMMEDIATELY

Harding Carries Out His Threat to Withdraw U. S. Guard From Coblenz When Seizure Is Made

TRANSPORT ORDERED ACROSS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service).—Immediately following announcement of the recall of the American troops on the Rhine, reports became current in Washington that British troops also would be withdrawn. These reports could not be confirmed here, the British embassy disclaiming any knowledge of the matter. American officials, however, would not be surprised if the British likewise express their disapproval of France's action by evacuating the Rhineland within a short time.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—The British government has granted France permission to move troops through the British occupied territory along the Rhine in pursuance of the French plan for occupation of the Ruhr.

Industrial Court Law Repeal Urged

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 10.—(By International News Service).—The repeal of the Kansas industrial court law and substitution of a board of arbitration to supplant it was the outstanding feature of Governor Jonathan M. Davis' first message to a joint session of the two houses of the Kansas legislature here today.

ORDER VERY GRATEFUL. SENATOR REED SAYS.

"The step taken by Secretary of War Weeks revealed that the United States, in protesting the seizure of the Ruhr, had informed France that the American forces would be withdrawn if this invasion were started."

The action of the President and Hughes follows the message by the Senate of Senator Reed's resolution expressing the view of the upper house that the Rhine forces should be withdrawn.

The troops are under command of Major General Henry T. Allen. Immediately upon his return to the state department, Hughes summoned the correspondents, who had just had their regular conference with Under-Secretary Phillips, and announced the decision for the withdrawal.

The American action followed the refusal of France to halt its Ruhr invasion and submit the reparations question to an international commission of business experts, as suggested by the United States. A few days ago the United States again made known to France that it regarded the march into the Ruhr with distinct disfavor.

The cost of maintaining the army of occupation on the Rhine since the armistice is now in excess of $300,000,000. This is to be paid by Germany, but so far only comparatively small amounts have been received.

The force originally was about 15,000 men, but has been reduced from time to time at the instance of Germany. Plans were under way to reduce it to 10,000 men.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The order for the immediate and complete withdrawal of all American troops on the Rhine went forward at Cologne this morning.

There is reason to believe that the decision to withdraw was made by President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes following the receipt of reports from Ambassador John W. Brown at Paris and Colonel R. W. Brown at Cologne. The order is a direct result of the recent protest by the German government against the presence of American troops on the Rhine.

COMPLETION IN 30 DAYS

President Harding summoned Secretary of War Weeks in person to the White House on Jan. 9. He announced that the army of occupation would be withdrawn from the Rhine in thirty days.

Major General Allen and the "army" of occupation will return to the United States in thirty days. The army of occupation is now in the process of being retrained and that it will be ready to return to the United States in thirty days.

PRINTING FIRM HEAD KILLS SELF

Ed Rosenberg Shoots Himself
Through Head in East
Twelfth Street Home.

Rising from his bed shortly after 10 a. m. today, Ed Rosenberg, prominent San Francisco business man who has been suffering from ill health and nervous trouble for some time, shot himself through the head in his home, 215 East Twelfth street, this city, and killed himself with a pistol, according to police reports.

Mrs. Rosenberg, who was in bed in an adjoining room, heard the shot and saw the glass door of the bathroom shattered by the bullet as it tore from her husband's head. She rushed to the door, peered through the broken pane and saw her husband lying dead on the floor.

Police officers who arrived at the residence shortly afterward found the bathroom door locked on the inside, and officially reported that Rosenberg had ended his life as a result of "nervous and melancholia brought on by overwork."

According to the story told by Mrs. Rosenberg, her husband was an owner of the Progress Printing Corporation in San Francisco, a printer and a well known clubman. He returned home from work yesterday and said that he was sick. He went immediately to bed, she said, without any dinner.

She said that this morning about 10 o'clock, she was awakened by him sitting up in bed and asked her to bring him a glass of water. She told him that he was mistaken and that she was asleep.

He went to the window, she said, and looked out. A moment later she heard a report of a pistol.

FORNIE MANAGER IN L. A. BANK IS SENT TO PRISON

Ivan Glavdanovic Sentenced to Leavenworth; Three Others Given Terms.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Ivan Glavdanovic, for four years manager of the foreign exchange department of the Merchants' National bank of Los Angeles, was sentenced to four and a half years in Leavenworth penitentiary today by Federal Judge William H. Hunt.

He pleaded guilty to the possession of numbers of fifty and one hundred pound counterfeit bank of England notes.

Glavdanovic was captured as he was leaving San Francisco after successfully passing about $5000 worth of "sham" currency on the bank of Los Angeles.

A contemner John Popovich, escaped but was later arrested in New York with it is said $450,000 worth of the counterfeit money in his possession. Later two other alleged members of the gang, Oscar Simon, a photographer, and Count Orloff, a Russian "nobleman" were apprehended in Los Angeles.

John Judehies recently honored discharged after six years' service in the United States Army and distinguished service in France, told Judge Hunt today that he was hungry when he broke into the postoffice at San Carlos. The court gave him three years at Port Leavenworth for burglary.

An aftermath of the riot on the high seas which resulted in the sinking of the steamship San Jacinto, occurred today when William Kibbutz, a member of the crew, was given ten months in the county jail by Judge Hunt. He was charged with assault for running amok with a butcher knife and attacking a doctor. He had been in the hospital for his trouble.

For making spurious silver dollars, a man was given two years in the county jail by Judge Hunt. The counterfeit money was passed in Oakland and San Francisco.

OLD TIME WAR SPIRIT SWAYS GERMANS AS FRENCH INVASION LOOMS

SEIZURE OF RUHR DEFINITELY SET FOR TOMORROW

Germany Officially Notified of Plans for French and Belgian Action.

occupied in the advance; in that time, the horizon-blue trail will have closed in from two directions and Essen will be under French occupation.

GERMANY INFORMED OF FRANCE'S PLANS

Premier Poincaré has taken steps to inform Germany of the French plans. Staff officers in the occupied area have been communicated with German burgomasters. The French ambassador at Berlin has talked with representatives of the Cuno government. The Germans will be clearly informed as to each contemplated move so they may cooperate and have the occupation go smoothly.

It was learned that the French engineers, upon arrival at Essen, will commence immediately to partition Germany's coal production from this region. The Germans will be permitted the amount needed internally and the surplus will be divided between France and the allies, in accordance with the Versailles treaty.

Other experts will collect the coal tax now being taken by the German government. This is 20 per cent on coal production at the mines.

The first French move will include merely occupation of Essen. It is understood; other troops will be held in reserve for a second movement that will include Bochum and Dortmund in case of necessity.

GIRL TO TESTIFY

Mrs. Gertrude Nevis, 17, of Berkeley, will take the witness stand late today and testify against Jack Wells, repeating the tale she told juvenile court authorities, which story resulted in Wells being held for trial for violation of the juvenile law. Wells was placed on trial today before a jury with Superior Judge H. D. Burroughs, of Yuba county, sitting in extra sessions. Mrs. Nevis, a former dance hall entertainer, lived with Wells and his mother in Berkeley, according to her story.

MATE'S MORALS RAPIDLY
Charging that her husband represented to her prior to their marriage that he was of good moral character and that this was not the truth, Mrs. Laura McDonald today filed suit against James McDonald for annulment of the marriage. The couple were married at Houston, Texas, January 18, 1916 and separated September 20, 1922.

BE HAPPY, THOUGH WED.
MANCHESTER, Eng., Jan. 13.—Magistrate Symonds declared from the bench that wives must make bad husbands good, and vice versa; then happiness was assured.

'Deutschland Uber Alles' Again Rings in Streets

By S. D. WEYER, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 10.—With France massing 50,000 troops in the northern sector of the occupied zone for seizure of the Ruhr and Rhineland industrial belt, wartime patriotism flamed up among the Germans here today. Crowds surged through the streets singing "Deutschland Uber Alles."

There have been no outbreaks despite the appearance here of French officers and the requisition of buildings for French barracks, but the people are in a sullen, resentful frame of mind and are determined to do what they can to hinder occupation.

Dissolution of the Great Rhineland coal syndicate is a severe blow to French plans for economic exploitation of the Ruhr. The syndicate controlled more than 100 of the most important mines in the district including those owned by Hugo Stinnes. It now will be necessary for the French to deal with the mine owners individually for purposes of appraising output, number of men at work, payrolls and the like. The books and records were removed from Essen today. They are being shipped to Hamburg.

Germans declared that as soon as the first French troops enter the Ruhr delivery of reparations will cease. Under present conditions, a 6000-ton coal train leaves the Ruhr every half hour for allied delivery.

Germans Angry as Troops Move in

COBLENZ, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service.)—Nine French troop trains, averaging sixty cars each, rolled through Coblenz today bound for the "front."

Some were going to Dusseldorf, where General de Goutte and General Berthelot have established headquarters; others were bound for Kalschueren.

The German population of Coblenz is sullen and angry, but there have been no hostile demonstrations.

American officers and men in the German cafes discussed the possibility of withdrawal or the likelihood of fighting in the Ruhr. Germans have grown friendly with the Americans and have anxiously sought their advice.

Treaty Violated, Germans Charge

ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service.)—Chambers of commerce in Essen, Altheim and Oberhausen today adopted a resolution declaring that the occupation of the Ruhr by France violated the Versailles treaty and nullifies all Germany's obligations under the pact.

French military officials have requisitioned eight warehouses in Duisburg.

English Are Cool, Americans Aloof
ESSEN, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service.)—Relations of various nationalities in the Rhineland are mixed. French and Belgians are most cordial. The English are cool, but courteous. The Americans are aloof and silent.

Anti-Vamp Law's Value as Home Safeguard Doubtful

Is vamping to be legislated out of existence?

This question was being widely discussed today, as the result of the receipt at Sacramento of a handwritten bill, for the purpose of fighting the "home-wreckers" liable to five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Doubt as to the possibility of successfully legislating against "that sort of morality" was expressed by a prominent Oakland clubwoman and civic worker today. Others, however, declared their belief in the feasibility of the proposed law, and expressed their approval of its purpose and probable results.

CHILDREN GREAT PROBLEM.
The children are the phase of the "home-wrecking" problem that are immediately spoken of when Judge Samuels' proposed bill is discussed.

Mrs. Helen S. Arledge, executive secretary of the Public Welfare League of Alameda county, said: "I think the proposed law is highly commendable and that it is right that the law should take cognizance of the wrong that is done when a home is broken up. Such a law will surely give pause to many men and women who are tempted to embark on such a course, for often such things are undertaken, thoughtlessly, and without due regard for the social wrongs that result."

"One of the most important phases of the proposed law is the protection that it affords to the children, principally, who are left to bear the brunt of the disrupted home."

LAW'S SUCCESS DOUBTED.
Mrs. Frank G. Law, past president of the Alameda County Civic League, and now chairman of the legislative committee of the League of Women Voters, expressed doubt as to the practicability of the proposed law.

"I have a profound respect for Judge Samuels as a man and as a judge," she said today, "and I have every consideration for what he proposes to accomplish through his proposed bill. But I am doubtful as to whether it is possible to legislate that sort of morality. I do not believe it will do any harm to have such a law on the statute books, but I am afraid it will not do much good."

"Male and female vamps have become a menace to the country," wrote Judge Samuels in a letter accompanying his bill, which came yesterday to Sacramento for introduction into the state legislature. "The only solution for the problem is to put them behind prison bars for wrecking the married life of our citizens."

Formal Opening Of Line Is Set

Formal opening of the extension of the Fifty-fifth avenue car line into Maxwell Park will be celebrated Sunday morning, January 14, when city officials, residents of the park and the Maxwell Park Improvement Association will gather for exercises, which will be featured by the planting of trees in the parking along the sidewalks.

Those who will be present at the exercises will include Mayor John L. Davis, Commissioners Frank Colborn, A. E. Carter and W. J. Baccus, and W. R. Alberger, president and general manager of the Oakland Terminal Railway; John P. Maxwell, through whose efforts the extension was secured; Wallace Adams, secretary of the improvement club; other club officials; and Howard Gilkie, city landscape engineer.

Optimists to Be Told of Near East Affairs

Dr. L. L. Witt, who recently returned from a tour of Asia Minor with the Near East Relief committee, will address the Optimist Club on "Observations of a Traveler" at the regular weekly meeting at noon luncheon at the Hotel Oakland Friday. T. I. Thomas will render a tenor solo.

PROPOSALS FROM STINNES LOOKED FOR IN FRANCE

Britain Blamed Because Offer From Industrialists in Ruhr Not Received.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service.)—While rushing military preparations for occupation of the Ruhr coal fields, the French cabinet has been eagerly awaiting proposals from the great German Rhineland industrialists headed by Hugo Stinnes, which would make such action unnecessary. It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

Members of the cabinet are said to be discouraged that such intervention has not been forthcoming, and are blaming Great Britain and the United States for giving "moral encouragement" to the Germans.

The semi-official newspaper Temps bitterly accuses England of advising the Germans not to make any counter proposals, but to "sit tight."

It is authoritatively learned that the French are willing to consider last-minute guarantees from the German industrialists if they will withdraw the billions of marks the French think they have hidden in neutral banks and enter into an agreement embodying the following terms:

- 1—Germans to cease boycotting Lorraine iron.
- 2—Cease buying iron ore from Sweden.
- 3—Promise to come to a business agreement with the French steel industry.
- 4—Promise to assist in stabilizing of the mark.

The French cabinet is convinced that the German industrialists are capable of doing all these things.

German Centers Are Filled With French Officers

DUSSELDORF, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service.)—France's army of invasion was held in readiness today for marching orders from Paris. Members of the French general staff said they expected the advance on Essen to be undertaken either tomorrow morning or Friday. Some days may elapse before the Ruhr is entered.

The streets swarm with French troops. The hotels are crowded with officers. Military motorcars dash in and out of the city.

All along the frontier of the occupied zone French soldiers are establishing bivouacs. Arms and munitions depots are being set up. Baby tanks crawl along the muddy roads with machine guns poked from the port holes.

French military authorities have forgotten all traffic of the Dusseldorf-Essen road except for military uses.

BROADEN DEBT LAW, PLEA MADE TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Congress will be asked, probably within a week, to broaden the powers of the American debt commission in dealing with all of the war debts owed to the United States, the Senate finance committee was told today by Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, the Senate representative on the commission.

Negotiations looking to the refunding of Great Britain's four billion dollar war debt to the United States were resumed today with the American debt commission apparently prepared to agree if necessary upon a tentative settlement based upon more liberal terms as to time and interest than those prescribed by congress. Such a plan could not become effective, until formally approved by congress.

TURKS CALLED TO COLORS, TROOPS MASS FOR WAR

Nationalists Prepare to Seize Mosul if Sausanne Meet Fails.

ATHENS, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service.)—Greek officials announced today that the Turkish governor of Adrianople has issued a proclamation calling to the colors all males in eastern Thrace between the ages of 18 and 45 for military duty.

An Italian warship frustrated an attempt by the Turks to sow mines off Ismid. A barge laden with Turkish mines was seized.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service.)—Turkish nationalist troops are being concentrated to occupy Mosul in event the Lausanne peace conference breaks down, said advices from Ankara today. Turkish troops are being massed south of Chanki, the British fortress on the Dardanelles.

LAUSANNE, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ismet Pasha informed the Near East conference today that Turkey would agree to the Greek partitioning remaining in Constantinople on condition that he be deprived of all administrative and civil functions.

Agreements also were reached in principle on the restitution of civil hostages, the exchange of war prisoners and the disposition and the Greek and Turkish minorities.

Five Communist Leaders in Ruhr Arrested in Raids

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Raids were made today by the authorities in search of Communist leaders who have recently been in the Ruhr valley and are charged with having excited the population to revolt against the entry of the French troops.

Five leading Communists—Mommousson, Maranne, Dietel, Sourdot and Tridand Treint—were arrested and were charged with attempting to violate the internal and external security of the state.

Mommousson, most widely known of the arrested men, had been expelled from Essen, it was stated, by the German police.

A man named Gaston Rene, a carpenter, also was arrested, and the police searched the offices of Humanite, the Communist organ, and seized several documents.

Communist circles expect the arrests to be followed by the demand for suspension of the parliamentary immunity of Marcel Cachin, who also has been active in the Ruhr propaganda, so as to admit of his apprehension.

660 Gallons of Wine Seized in U. S. Raid

Six hundred and sixty-six gallons of wine was seized by the "dry squad" and federal officers when they raided the home of Michael Scipioni, 1825 Tenth street. They searched his home on a federal warrant which was issued by United States Commissioner Albert M. Hardie.

The wine which was in large barrels was sealed by the raiding officers. They took with them four ounces of sackless brand and two gallons of wine. Scipioni was charged with violating the national prohibition law.

Commissioner Hardie To Talk on Dry Law

U. S. Commissioner Albert M. Hardie addresses the Educational Section of the Public Welfare League on the "Enforcement of Prohibition in the Federal Courts" and Judge Edward J. Tyrrell will talk on his experiences in the police court at a meeting to be held Monday, January 15, at 8 p. m. in the club room of the First Congregational church. The meeting will be held in the brick annex on the Thirteenth street side. F. R. Bancroft is chairman.

YOUNG SOUNDS CHALLENGE IN HIS ADDRESS BEFORE LEGISLATURE

WAS NOT HEARD IN YOUNG'S WORDS AT INAUGURAL

Lieutenant-Governor's Talk Taken As Progressive Challenge.

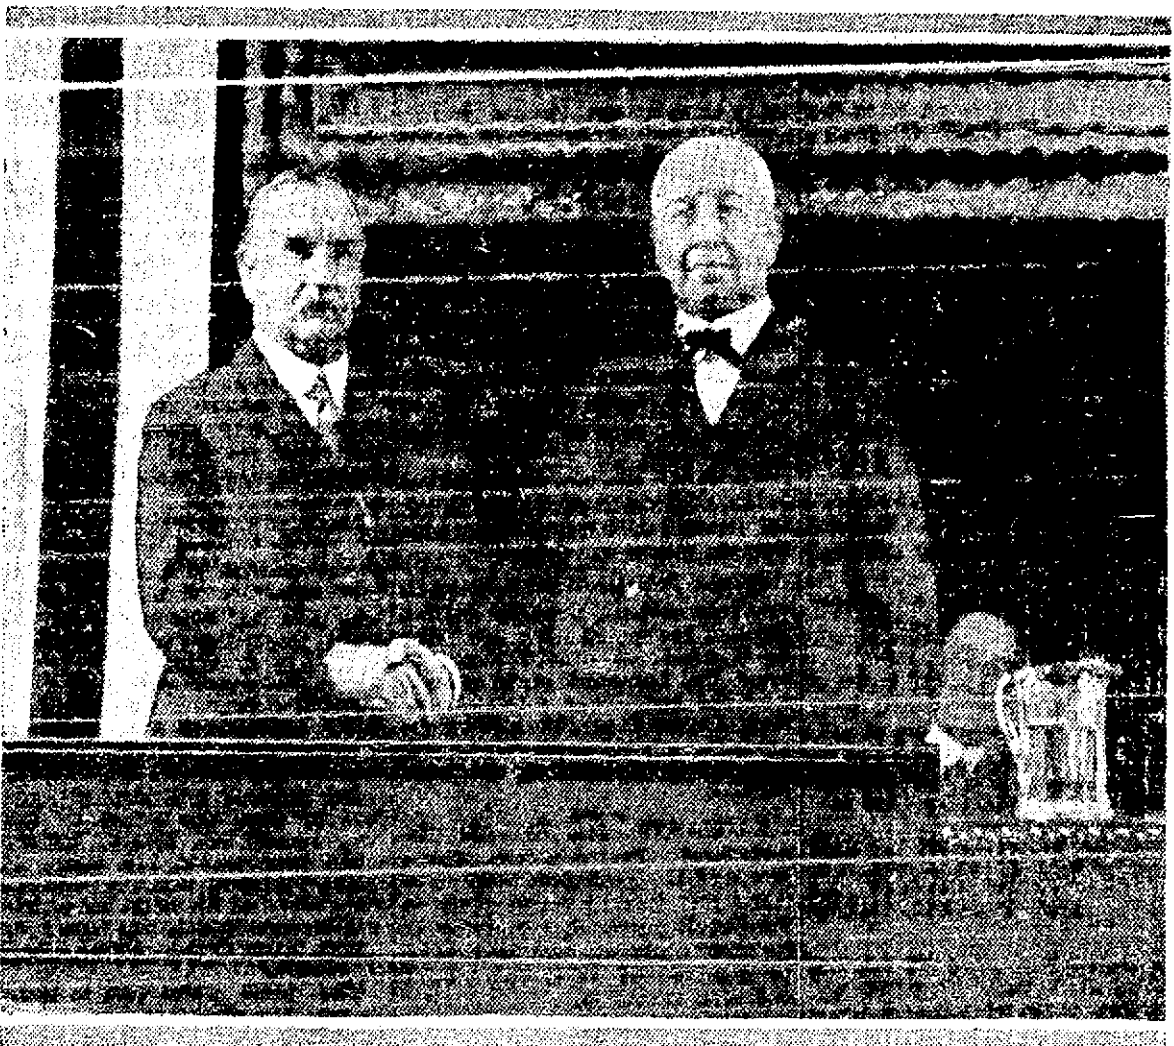

By E. VAN LIER RIBBING, TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Defiance to those forces and interests that are alleged to stand in the way of the new state legislature, is the message which is being conveyed by the address delivered yesterday by Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young, as he took the oath of office.

The inauguration of Governor Richardson, and the message read by the next executive, the dignified exit of Governor Stephens, and his few brief words, the impressive ceremony with both houses assembled in joint session in the splendid setting of the assembly chamber—all these were overshadowed by the words so emphatically spoken by the lieutenant-governor and president of the Senate, who is now considered the leader of the Progressive party in the legislature.

"Straight from the shoulder," he warned in his address, "I am warning you that the new legislature is not here to stand in the way of the old, but to clear the way for the new."

"Said the Governor to the Governor"

FRIEND WILLIAM RICHARDSON, Governor of the State, receives the gavel from WILLIAM D. STEPHENS (right), retired Governor on the speaker's rostrum in the assembly chamber as THE TRIBUNE staff photographer clicks his camera for another exclusive picture.

Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young, as he took the oath of office, is seen receiving the gavel from Governor William D. Stephens.

SPEECH HELD AS WARNING.

There were spontaneous bursts of applause—in which some did not share, however, when Young mentioned "political revolution in the State of California," which has meant an overturning of conditions were entrenched, vested interests governed the state.

The name of United States Senator Hiram Johnson, mentioned as "the great leader" elicited long and sustained applause, and there fell a hush over the gathering when the speaker raised his voice and said: "If any attempt should be made by those who would seek to pull down what we have built up, I believe I can speak for this legislature in saying that it will be sternly repelled."

The Lieutenant-Governor's address brought in the new administration, by saying: "To show that we are not alone in this position, I need only to refer to the oft-repeated pledge of our new Governor that he will effect whatever savings he proposes, without the impairment of a single educational or humanitarian or progressive function of the state."

RICHARDSON'S EXPRESSION.

Governor Richardson's address admitted that "in 1911 the people did a good job of political house cleaning," but immediately added that "during the last few years another great political machine has come into power which has cost the people millions of dollars." It will be necessary, the Governor added, "to first wreck this political machine before the State can be put on a sound financial basis and the government, again handed back to the people."

The joint assembly of the Legislature which witnessed the inauguration ceremonies, was called to order by Senator Arthur H. Breed of Fresno, president of the Senate, and by Frank P. Merriam, Speaker of the Assembly. Bishop William Hall Moreland delivered the invocation, and Governor Stephens thereupon delivered his address.

The inauguration of Governor Richardson and Lieutenant-Governor Young followed. Judge E. C. Hart of the Third District Court of Appeal administered the oath in each case.

TEST VOTE IN ASSEMBLY.

Far from being depressed over the election of Frank P. Merriam, Governor Richardson's choice to the speakership of the Assembly, the assemblymen who supported Albert A. Rosenthal consider that the test of strength speaks well for the future. It is pointed out that the Governor's candidacy only won as the result of powerful pressure brought to bear by the administration, that the Governor had to come out himself for his candidacy, and it is felt that the gubernatorial power of exhorting a veto over the new bills of law.

Governor Makes His First Appointments

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Governor Richardson last night confirmed previous announcements of appointments and made new commissions to issue, as follows:

Joseph W. Vickers of Los Angeles, private secretary to the governor.

Harry Lufkins of San Francisco, executive secretary to the governor.

Louise R. Boones of Berkeley, stenographer.

Miss Boones was appointed for six years in the treasurer's office while the governor was state treasurer.

Harvey M. Toy of San Francisco, chairman of the highway commission.

Louis Eversing of Humboldt, highway commissioner.

George G. Radcliffe of Watsonville, member of the state board of control to succeed Edgerton Shore.

Mrs. Nellie B. Pierce of Los Angeles, member of the state board of control.

R. M. Morton of San Diego, director of public works.

J. A. McGilvray of Sacramento, legislative counsel.

Gates Expected to Head Finance Body.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Rumor says that Senator Edward J. Gates of Los Angeles county is expected again to head the state finance committee of seven.

Speaker Merriam commenced work on the assembly committee, requesting members to make known to him their preference for the committee and announced his intention to have the list ready before the end of the week.

Governor Stephens' appointment of E. C. Cooper of San Francisco as insurance commissioner is scheduled to come up today or tomorrow for ratification and some members indicated that the matter would precipitate a fight on the floor.

POPPY GIRLS SENTENCED.

GLASSBORO, Jan. 10.—Fifteen girls who collected funds for soldiers on Poppy Day and then stole the money were sentenced to terms in jail.

BILL TO CORRECT ALAMEDA COUNTY SALARIES PLANNED

Christian Says His Measure Will Met Demands of Taxpayers.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Assemblyman E. H. Christian, of Hayward, announced today that he would introduce a bill, "correcting" the legislature's decision of two years ago on the Alameda County Government Bill, by which the salaries of Alameda county officials were raised $50,000 per annum. In general, Christian's bill will endeavor to annul the 1921 decision, bringing back the salaries affected to their old standard, Christian said.

"In this matter I am being guided by the wishes of the Taxpayers' Association of Alameda County," he said, "which, like charity, should begin at home. I was the only member in the previous assembly who voted against the Alameda County Government Bill, which saddled us with this enormous extra expenditure, and this time I will lead the fight, and try to correct the mistake that was made."

The 1921 bill was "railroaded" through with hardly any consideration and in the face of practically no opposition, except my own," Assemblyman Christian also announced that he will take the lead in introducing a bill abolishing "special fees."

NEW PURE FOOD BILL

The following are a few of the bills which will be introduced during the session:

Assemblyman Frank W. Anderson of Oakland, speaker pro tem of the assembly, will introduce a pure food law, regulating the manufacture and sale of ice cream and candies. Anderson holds that general health is being done to the health of children and grown-ups by coloring matter in some brands of ice cream, and states that several cases of poisoning are on record.

First, a clause requiring that all factories of any kind buying dairy products must be licensed by the state just as are those which buy on a buttermilk basis.

Second, to incorporate a clause which will observe the butter law to correspond in nature to the present butter law due to the fact that the law applying to most butter is a court test and was held unconstitutional. The defect in the meat law has been corrected, but the dairy law has remained unchanged.

Third, to incorporate a clause establishing a standard for various grades of cream, with churning cream 20 per cent butter fat, coffee cream 20 per cent butter fat, and pastry cream 35 per cent butter fat.

Fourth, to incorporate a clause requiring that all restaurants and eating houses be required to serve milk to the customer in the original container and not to remove the cap from the bottle except in the presence of the customer.

Fifth, legalizing the use of butter in the making of ice cream. There was no discussion about prices. The election of officers resulted in the naming of the following:

D. N. Dorman, Los Angeles, president; Frank Helm, Fresno, vice president; W. E. Haley, San Francisco, vice president; C. A. Fawcett, Oakland, secretary-treasurer; George J. Meador, Sacramento; George E. Platt, Los Angeles; S. F. Kennedy, Riverside; C. A. Beecher, Stockton, and Wayne A. Hood, San Diego, directors.

The banquet was arranged under the direction of the board, and the topic of discussion was better fellowship between all branches of the dairy industry—producer, distributor and manufacturer. Sam Greene acted as toastmaster, and addresses were made by the new president, D. N. Dorman, W. E. Haley, Hutchings, president of the Eastbay Producers association, Dr. B. S. Koudous of the dairy division of the agricultural department of the University of California, B. H. Rawl, assistant general manager of the California Central Creameries, Dr. George H. Hunt of the University of California, Frank I. Lemos of San Leandro, Edward P. Moran of San Francisco, Dr. C. C. Wing, San Francisco dairy inspector, and Dr. Carpenter of Alameda.

S. F. AMATEUR HEARD OFF CHINA

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 10.—An announcement today by the American Radio Relay League told of a wireless operator on a ship 120 miles off the coast of China hearing signals for four amateur stations in the United States. A letter from the league operator gave the calls of the stations heard, which were identified as: T. E. Nickleick, Los Angeles; H. L. Gooding, Douglas, Ariz.; E. C. Daniel, Colusa, Calif.; and C. E. Campbell, Oakland, Cal.

The distance, estimated by the league at 5,000 miles, is said to establish a new record for amateur transmission.

C. E. Campbell of Oakland, a son of H. C. Campbell, gave up his career a year ago, and has not used his transmitting station since. The call was later assigned to J. W. Little, 1825 Lincoln way, San Francisco.

It is of the opinion that it was the station which was heard. Campbell was one of the first amateurs on the Pacific coast, and selected his own call letters, KAC, the letters "AC" being a technical term used for designating alternating current.

BAY COUNTIES CLUB TO MEET

MILK DEALERS OF STATE PROPOSE CHANGES IN LAW

Modifications to Improve Product, Correct Legal Defects, Aim of Convention.

A number of important changes in the California dairy law to be submitted for the approval of the legislature formed the principal topic of discussion of the annual convention of the State of California Milk Distributors' association held yesterday in the Bacon building in Oakland. The gathering was followed by a banquet attended by 200 persons at the Hotel Oakland last night.

Officers were elected and other business important to the industry was considered.

The proposed alterations in the California dairy law were explained to the delegates by the association's secretary, Samuel H. Greene, of Oakland, secretary-manager of the California Dairy Council, and Edward Moran, attorney for the association.

Representatives of the dairy industry previously have discussed the proposed changes at a meeting in Los Angeles last week and with the State Department of Agriculture late in December. All the proposed changes are designed to strengthen the dairy law and to improve the quality of the product which reaches the consumer and to make certain necessary changes to correct technical defects which have been discovered through the practical operation of the law.

Briefly, the proposed changes are: First, a clause requiring that all factories of any kind buying dairy products must be licensed by the state just as are those which buy on a buttermilk basis.

Second, to incorporate a clause which will observe the butter law to correspond in nature to the present butter law due to the fact that the law applying to most butter is a court test and was held unconstitutional. The defect in the meat law has been corrected, but the dairy law has remained unchanged.

Third, to incorporate a clause establishing a standard for various grades of cream, with churning cream 20 per cent butter fat, coffee cream 20 per cent butter fat, and pastry cream 35 per cent butter fat.

Fourth, to incorporate a clause requiring that all restaurants and eating houses be required to serve milk to the customer in the original container and not to remove the cap from the bottle except in the presence of the customer.

Fifth, legalizing the use of butter in the making of ice cream. There was no discussion about prices. The election of officers resulted in the naming of the following:

D. N. Dorman, Los Angeles, president; Frank Helm, Fresno, vice president; W. E. Haley, San Francisco, vice president; C. A. Fawcett, Oakland, secretary-treasurer; George J. Meador, Sacramento; George E. Platt, Los Angeles; S. F. Kennedy, Riverside; C. A. Beecher, Stockton, and Wayne A. Hood, San Diego, directors.

The banquet was arranged under the direction of the board, and the topic of discussion was better fellowship between all branches of the dairy industry—producer, distributor and manufacturer. Sam Greene acted as toastmaster, and addresses were made by the new president, D. N. Dorman, W. E. Haley, Hutchings, president of the Eastbay Producers association, Dr. B. S. Koudous of the dairy division of the agricultural department of the University of California, B. H. Rawl, assistant general manager of the California Central Creameries, Dr. George H. Hunt of the University of California, Frank I. Lemos of San Leandro, Edward P. Moran of San Francisco, Dr. C. C. Wing, San Francisco dairy inspector, and Dr. Carpenter of Alameda.

NAPA BRIDGE PLAN

Assemblyman Frank L. Coombs, of Napa, introduced a bill today to give Napa the right to launch a bridge-building program, and will also ask a state appropriation to build a highway from Calistoga to Lower Lake, in Lake county.

Senator H. W. Slater, of Santa Rosa, will introduce a bill asking for a fund to restore the old mission of Sonoma. The mission is owned by the state, and is rich in historical associations. It is visited annually by thousands of visitors. Senator Slater says the number of visitors for the past year has been about 10,000. Senator Slater will also ask an appropriation for county fair purposes.

Assemblyman Percy G. West, of Sacramento, will ask an appropriation of $500,000 for the reconstruction of the Upper Sacramento road from the southern limits of the city of Yuba.

NEW CAUSEWAY ASKED.

Assemblyman John W. Johnston, of Sacramento, will ask that the state reconstruct the causeway on the Auburn highway at the American river bridge.

Assemblyman Fred. Hawes of San Francisco and Harry F. Morrison of San Francisco, will each bring up a boxing bill. Hawes measure asks that boxing bouts of six rounds be allowed, instead of four, and Morrison would make it fifteen rounds, 10 per cent of the revenue of the bouts to go to the state.

Still more comprehensive is a bill which is also to be introduced, and in the interest of which Attorney Samuel Shortridge, Jr., is said to be present, which would place no limit on the number of rounds to be fought.

Several bills affecting the motion picture interests will be introduced by Sidney T. Graves, of Hollywood. An interesting figure among the legislators is Assemblyman Edwin Baker, of Los Angeles, who is an actor. He "carried" the crowd in the Hollywood Oberammergau Passion Play last year. In the mercurial character of "Simon the Cyrenian" or "Thesman" interests, and will introduce one or more bills affecting the stage.

County Tax Levy For Fiscal Year Is $132,945,646

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—The total county tax levy of California for the year 1922-1923 amounts to $132,945,646, according to Ray L. Riley, state controller. Of this amount, $90,228,812 is raised for general county purposes, the largest single item being $30,532,679 for the general fund.

Elementary schools will receive $19,731,430, high schools $7,422,766, roads and bridges $9,968,253 and the balance will go to salaries, hospitals and industries, liquidation of debts, libraries, etc.

Of the $42,716,834 levied as special district taxes, education will receive $40,228,571, making a total county expenditure for educational purposes of $68,134,870. In addition to this, $30 per pupil, based upon average daily attendance, is contributed to county schools by the state.

The above figures do not represent the total tax burden of the people of the state who may live in irrigation, reclamation and such other political subdivisions as are governed by directors of the particular district.

For the year 1921-1922 the above taxes amounted to $120,609,677, an increase this year of $12,335,969.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Men-tho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It soothes the itching, the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowley Men-tho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

THIS actually happened and is well worth telling.

The drug clerk was just about to close up. It was getting late. The last policeman to rub his nose against the plate glass window, was far down the avenue when the clerk switched off the electric lights and turned the lock. Then it all happened.

A man rushed up to the door. "Say, man, I want a box of Becham's Pills. Simply must have them," he exclaimed. "Store's closed for the day," remarked the clerk as he pocketed the key. "Like thunder it is!" shouted the late comer. "I've got to have a box of Becham's Pills tonight." The altercation grew heated. There was an exchange of blows.

Then the clerk took off his broken glasses, unlocked the door and handed out a 50 cent box of Becham's Pills.

EQUALIZERS URGE GASOLINE, AUTO STAGE TAXATION

No Rate Changes Required if Economy Program Is Carried.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—The state board of equalization today submitted its biennial report to Governor Richardson together with recommendations and comment on taxation matters.

The report recommends a state tax on gasoline. It recommends a tax on stages and trucks using state highways for commercial purposes, and it says that if the state expenditures are kept within Governor Richardson's pre-election figures of $30,000,000, no rate changes need be considered at this session of the legislature.

This, the report explains, is a desirable situation, because the whole question of rates of taxation against corporations is now in litigation before the federal courts and the decision will clear the way for future legislation; while any attempted present changes could not be made with full knowledge of what the courts may hold.

CORPORATION TAXES.

The department promised an estimate of state income for the approaching biennium and reported that the total taxes from corporations were $22,954,844.85 in 1921 and $24,706,136.27 in 1922.

The report is signed by the five members of the board, R. E. Collins, John C. Corbett, John Mitchell, H. G. Catell and Ray L. Riley, state controller.

BUDGET SYSTEM URGED TO DOWN EVILS OF H. C. L.

Dr. Jessica Peixotto Sees in Housewives' Figures An Aid to Merchants.

Advocating the keeping of a detailed budget system by the housewives as the principal means of throwing the high cost of living Dr. Jessica Peixotto, professor of social economics at the University of California, yesterday addressed members of the Advertising Club at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

"Prices for labor are from 50 to 100 per cent higher than they were several years ago," said Dr. Peixotto. "However, at that time labor was underpaid from the standpoint of the standards of living. Now conditions are different and labor is being more appropriately wages but it is still not in proportion to costs."

The only means by which retail merchants catering to housewives can gain the knowledge which will enable them to stock their shelves without investing their capital in articles which they subsequently find there is no demand for is through the cooperation of their women customers with the aid of household budgets, said the speaker.

The subject of Dr. Peixotto's address was "The Regulation of the Household Budget and the Retail Trade."

She pointed out that a system of budget-keeping on the part of housewives—not money allowances, but quantity allowances applied to articles of household use—would enable the merchants to estimate what the demand for various articles would be each year and thus permit them to stock their stores accordingly.

"We have been dominated by the high cost of living for the last decade," it is a result of a difference between the producer and the business world. On one hand we have the customer, who is thrifty and tries to spend no more than he can for living and on the other hand the retailer, who is trying to get as much from the consumer as possible."

Referring to advertising, Dr. Peixotto expressed the conviction that advertising methods have so improved in recent years that the advertising columns of the daily papers now are actual information directories for housekeepers, rather than snares to induce them to purchase articles for which they have no practical use.

MT. DIABLO PARK PURCHASE URGED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—The report of the commission appointed to negotiate for 4000 additional acres on Mount Diablo for state park purposes has been filed with the Governor, and contains strong recommendations for the completion of this project, which was first proposed by the Native Sons of the Golden West and has been endorsed by the Native Daughters of the Golden West, the State Grange of Patrons of Husbandry, many chambers of commerce, the press and public spirited citizens.

The commission is composed of James P. Hony, president of the Mt. Diablo Park Association, Secretary of the State Grange, Joseph R. Knowlton of Oakland and Lewis F. Bunting of San Francisco.

After reviewing the importance of the park as a great outdoor playground for the people of California, the report specifically recommends that the land be procured at once, that the toll road on the mountain be acquired and made a free thoroughfare, that buildings for accommodation of visitors be erected where necessary; that the water supply be improved; that a game preserve and bird sanctuary be established and reservation be carried on under the direction of skilled foresters.

Other states, the report shows, have invested large sums in state parks although they lack the natural advantages so abundantly possessed by California.

Finally it is pointed out that the Mount Diablo Park would be a boon to thousands of families in the bay region including a rapidly growing population that already numbers more than 1,000,000—of whom can reach Mount Diablo in two or three hours travel by railroad or automobile.

Builders Ask Full Time Labor Office in Oakland

A resolution, requesting the Alameda county delegation to procure the establishment of a full time branch office of the state labor commissioner in the Oakland city hall, adopted last night by members of the Alameda county delegation at a meeting in their rooms on Thirteenth street. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 10 to 2.

The remarkable development experienced by the city of Oakland since the war has caused a tremendous increase in the industrial population of the city and has greatly increased the number of employees. The DeLange explaining the purpose of the resolution, "The growth necessitates the services of a full time deputy of the Labor Commissioner in this city to the end that all industrial disputes, collection of wages and the removal of difficulties between the employers and employees may be accomplished in an economical and efficient manner and with the least possible friction."

At present time a deputy of the labor commissioner maintains offices in the police court on two days a week. Not having a separate office identified exclusively with his work his presence in the city of Oakland is not sufficiently well known to cause frequent application for his services. The police court does not give the proper atmosphere for the settlement of disputes or the discharge of the functions of a labor department.

A suggestion that you pass the accompanying resolution so that our representatives may be advised as to our wishes in the matter and thereby be inspired to use their best efforts to obtain this much desired result.

The resolution, which the Merchants Exchange is sending the feeling of the business interests of the city of Oakland which it represents, fully realizes the urgent necessity of the establishment of a full

Richardson "Has just Begun to Fight

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Although the new administration won the fight for the speakership of the assembly, it has "just begun to fight," Governor Friend W. Richardson said last night at a banquet held here in his honor by members of the California Press Association. Members of the organization were urged to keep the fight going.

This talk of a reactionary administration and of a reactionary speaker is all fancy, said the governor. The reactionaries of the old administration are those doing the waiting.

Richardson Makes Road Board Change

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Governor Friend W. Richardson will refuse to appoint R. H. McCallan, Los Angeles county supervisor, as a member of the new highway commission. It was reported following an announcement by the governor that he had confirmed the appointments of Harvey M. Toy of San Francisco, chairman of the commission and Louis Edwards of Berkeley as members. McCallan was previously announced as the third member.

Frank Johnson to Be Bank Chief

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—(By International News Service)—Frank Johnson, former deputy state treasurer, will be appointed state superintendent of banks by Governor Friend W. Richardson according to authoritative reports in the Capitol today.

Johnson was one of Richardson's supporters during the governorship campaign and served under the new governor in the treasury office.

WORK RUSHED ON ALAMEDA BANK

ALAMEDA, Jan. 10.—Work of renovating and remodeling the new quarters which the Commercial National Bank and the Central Building Association will occupy at the southeast corner of Park street and Central avenue are being rushed with the idea of completing the work at an early date as possible according to contractors.

An outbreak of a serious virus the entire lower floor of the building will be closed at the two institutions and approximately $20,000 will be spent in installing modern banking equipment. The new quarters are being adapted to contain a spacious lobby, rest-rooms for women and private offices for bank officials. The exterior is to be modernized and will be of cement finish.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dandruff is entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; and in the morning, wash the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement—

Broke Up House-keeping

"We had to break up my house-keeping because of my wife's stomach trouble. No medicine did her any good for more than a few hours. On a visit to Oshkosh, a friend praised Mrs. Wonderful Remedy so highly my wife tried it, and she has recovered the best of health since taking it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the intestinal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Advertisement—

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination to treat not only the bowels but the liver, and to remove the cause of the trouble and quickly correct it. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquors or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquors. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Headaches, "biliousness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "bitchy" and "biliary." They "clear" cloudy brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 20c.—Advertisement—

Mothers Advise Their Daughters to Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health

A Mother's Advice Prevents Operation
Corona, N. Y.—"I had a terrible pain in my left side and had to go to bed every so often. Doctors had told me I must be operated on, but I do not believe in the knife and would rather suffer than go through it. My mother also did not believe in it and she made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped her. It has also helped me for I am better and able to do all my work. I recommend your medicine and give you my permission as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. Buson, Jr., 11 S. Railroad Avenue, Corona, N. Y.

A Sickly Child
Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was very weak and sickly. When she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is a healthy, happy, hearty, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her 'gym' work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference."—Mrs. GEORGE E. WHITACRE, 621 W. Madison Ave., Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl wants to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at all times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young girls just entering womanhood. Mothers may depend upon it. Remember it is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they will work in a healthy and normal manner. A healthy body is a happy body. These women know its great value. Let it help your daughter and yourself.

Coué's Smile That Won New York

Three characteristic, closeup views of M. EMILE COUÉ, of Nancy, France, arriving on the steamer Majestic, at New York, to give to the American people his message of healing by auto-suggestion. So popular have his methods become that the New York police have established a special station for his treatment.—Copyright, 1923, by Underwood & Underwood.

GIRL TELLS HOW SHE WAS EXILED BY KLU KLUX KLAN

"A roadster, Dr. McKoin drove the car. Mr. Kirkpatrick sat on the door."
"Wasn't much room?"
"The witness giggled a 'no.' At times, Annie May stopped in her roadster to wipe away a tear, especially during her account of the pleadings of her mother."
"Did they give you a lecture?" she was asked.
"No, sir."
"Are Mr. Clark and Hopkins Klansmen?"
"I believe Mr. Clark is. I don't know about Mr. Hopkins."
"How long had your parents lived in Mer Rouge when you were ordered away?"
"Thirteen years."
"Where is Fred Clemmons, who was at the house the night the hooded men came for you?"
"I understand he is in New Orleans."
"Who was your family physician?"
"Dr. Doherty. Dr. McKoin also. Mr. McKoin was my music teacher."
"What time did Fred Clemmons come to your house?"
"About 1:30 in the afternoon."
"How long had you been taking music lessons?"
"About one year."
"You were going to Sunday school?"
"Yes, sir."
"In Mer Rouge?"
"COULD NOT RETURN."
"Were you going to school?"
"No, sir. I quit school in the eighth grade."
"Didn't Dr. McKoin tell you that to stop a cold in one day take laxative BITING GUININE tablets. The box bears the signature of E. W. Grove. (Be sure you get BITING) 20c.—Advertisement—

Song of Welcome By DON MARQUIS. (Dedicated to Dr. Coué)

The man whom naught can phase is here
To bring his healing phrases here
To get us into dazes here and cure our silly ills
Without recourse to medicine or surgery or dread of sin
Or dope that might imbue us in an avalanche of pills.

Come, come along and kid yourself!
My brother, simply bid yourself improve and you will rid yourself of everything that's wrong.
All honor, then, let's begin to sing! Let's follow him and cling to him! Let's all join hands and sing to him our fierce, triumphant song:

Emile.
We feel
We really ought to kneel.
The creed we took
From out your book, we never will forget her.
For every day,
In every way, we're growing better 'n better.

What's Happening in the Motor World
By Jim Roullhan

Oakland motor car men are busy today with their preparations of the motor car exhibits which are to be the center of attraction when the Oakland Civic Auditorium is thrown open Saturday night on the Fifth Annual Oakland Automobile Show.

Little retail business has been done at the local establishments during the past week, due to the fact that all of the salesmen and executives of the companies have been engaged in planning the arrangement of their cars and in receiving special shipments from the east.

Incidentally, under the direction of Robert Marland, are transforming the Auditorium into a beautiful setting which will properly set off the showing of 1923 models. Those who had a week into the great Auditorium this morning, even in its unfinished state, are enthusiastic in their praise of the decorative design and assert without qualification that this exhibition from a decorative standpoint at least will surpass in magnificence any previous motor car exhibit here.

Automobile men also declare that the motoring public have a most treat course in the cars that will be displayed. More new models will be put forth than at any previous Oakland Automobile Show. A greater display of accessories has also been arranged for by the show committee, and these exhibits will get much attention and interest from the automobile public.

From a trade standpoint, too, the show is expected to surpass all former exhibits in the number of out-of-town visitors who will be attracted to the city during the week. Hotels report an unusual number of car-of-the-week reservations, and it is expected that the week will see the greatest number of automobile men in Oakland who have ever visited the city for any of the four previous displays.

Last-minute information from Manager Robert Marland is to the effect that the Auditorium will be ready for the displays of motor cars by Friday afternoon and that promptness on the part of the dealers in making their cars ready for the management in having the exhibit ready for the public several hours in advance of the formal opening hour of 6 p. m. Saturday.

SMOKER TOMORROW NIGHT.
"Eight fans who missed the boxing show at the Auditorium last night will have an opportunity to see some of the best boys in the Eastbay cities perform at Aahmes Temple tomorrow night."

The Alameda County Automobile Trade Association has arranged an athletic night and will stage a program which includes dancing girls and plenty of other jazz entertainment. It will give the men who sell them a chance to forget their business troubles for an evening.

The boxing bouts will include some of the best known talent in the Eastbay district—boys who really know how to exchange blows. The dancing will also be a feature of the show.

Bob Abernethy, chairman of the entertainment committee, has arranged some fine stunts for the athletic night and it is expected that close to 500 automobile men and their friends will attend.

The association includes 135 various firms in the automobile business in the county, and regular meetings are held for the purpose of social occasions to forget the woes of business and enjoy themselves.

night you couldn't come back to Mer Rouge without permission of the Klan?"
"No sir, he told me I never could come back."
"When were you advised that the Klan would let you come back?"
"I got a letter from Mr. Hopkins in May telling me everything had been fixed."
"Are you positive it was Dr. McKoin?"
"Yes sir. I knew his voice. I knew him by his walk and his height and weight."
"George 'Hip' Eckols, 15, was called to the stand before Addie May Hamilton. Eckols testified that he was the guest of Watt Daniel at a double-header baseball game at Batrop on August 24. After the second game, he said, they were joined by Sidney White, with the latter, they started on a trip to Mer Rouge and he told of their hold-up by hooded men and the later release of himself and White."

FLOGGED MAN ON STAND.
W. C. Andrews, one of those flogged on August 24, was next called to the stand. He testified that at one time at Stamper, three miles north of Mer Rouge, he and Watt Daniel had run into a party of Klansmen.

"How were they dressed?" the witness was asked.
"Dressed in white, all hooded, reaching to their feet. They went on. We followed them as I had received a note I wanted to talk to them about. I found it in my automobile. It said I was running up and down the road disturbing the peace at all times of night. It was signed by the 'Klan' committee."

"Where did you overtake them?"
"They stopped at a negro house. We stopped a hundred yards away. Some were out of their cars. It was a moonlight night and we could see plainly. Some of them went into the negro house. When they came out, they came down to where we were and surrounded our car."

"They searched us and took Watt's gun."
"Then they accused Watt of making whiskey. He said he had not made any whiskey since November, when he had received a warning. Then they searched my car and took my pistol but later returned it. They didn't return Watt's. We went on to town. A few minutes later the Klansmen came through. One of the automobiles stopped and a man shouted: 'Here, Watt, is your pistol.' Watt went out to the auto and got his gun."

FOUR MEN RECOGNIZED.
"What did you do about the note?"
"I showed it to them when they held us up. They said they didn't know anything about it."
"Who were those Klansmen?"
"I recognized two, Captain Skipwith and Laurie Calhoun."
"Are you positive about them?"
"Yes, sir. I knew their voices well."
"They questioned Daniel at length about whiskey?"
"Yes, sir."
"Do you think you recognized others?"
"Yes sir. Bob Dade and Dr. McKoin. Bob Dade said the next day he was not at the house we were up the road."

Capt. J. K. Skipwith, of Batrop, is the excited cyclops of the Morehouse Parish Klan. Calhoun recently acted as a special deputy.

Fire Prevention Subject Discussed
ALAMEDA, Jan. 10.—(Fire Prevention and its Practical Application) was the subject discussed yesterday before the members of the Alameda Rotary Club by Jay W. Stephens, chief engineer of the fire prevention bureau of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

As accompanied with slides and was held following the weekly luncheon of the club. Walter Steinmetz, fire chief of Alameda, introduced the speaker. Ed Silver, president, presided.

In United States theaters, white oil lamps were used at the beginning of the 19th century.

BANDITS ROB, THREE IN VICTIM THREE OF VICTIM

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 10.—Three bandits, traveling in a large touring car, late last night beat and robbed August Denmark, of McFarland, of $51, and left him bound and gagged by the side of the highway four miles north of McFarland.

Some time later Denmark, almost unconscious and unable to tell a coherent story, was found trussed up by the road by W. C. Hanawalt, McFarland farmer, who notified the police station and sheriff's office here.

BODY HELD FOR RELATIVES.
RICHMOND, Jan. 10.—The remains of Joseph P. Barloggi, who died at the county hospital Sunday, are being held at local undertaking parlors awaiting word from relatives as to funeral arrangements. Barloggi was a native of Switzerland and was 58 years old. He was a laborer and had lived in Richmond about a year. His only relative here is Mrs. Ida Booghi, a cousin, who lives at 444 A street.

SIX INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Indictments containing 18 counts, in which they are charged with passing and passing a number of bank of England counterfeit notes, were returned yesterday by the federal grand jury against Ivan Chivandrov, alias Oscar Land, and John Popovich, alias John Mann.

Chivandrov was formerly in charge of the foreign exchange department of the Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles. Popovich is a surgical instrument maker.

Clarence J. Parsons and Clyde J. Conger were indicted on charges of possessing counterfeit coins.

John Judeites was indicted on the charge of burglarizing the postoffice at San Carlos.

William Kaihu was indicted for assault on the high seas.

Captain of Police Goff, of the

Assistant Pastor's Work Commended

A resolution commending the work of Rev. Paul Holsinger, formerly assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was adopted by the Men's Club of the First church last night at its monthly dinner. Rev. Holsinger served the church as assistant pastor for the past three years and recently resigned that post to accept the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of Red Bluff.

William Glanders, general secretary of the Oakland Y. M. C. A., as the speaker of the evening and gave an illustrated lecture on Australia. Various reports of committees of the club were submitted.

An invitation was received and accepted with a unanimous vote to attend the meeting of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday, January 30.

Agreement Reached In Garment Strike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—An agreement was reached today by manufacturers of children's wearing apparel and approximately 400 striking employees in New York under which work will be resumed immediately, according to information received by the department of labor. The agreement affects six-ty-five shops. Negotiations also are under way, it was said, to terminate the strike of 10,000 other clothing workers in New York.

Church Arranges Special Program

Sunday evening at 7:30 a selected program of music will be given at Centennial Presbyterian church, Twenty-fourth avenue and Foot-hill boulevard. Walter Bundy, a member of the Oakland Orpheus Club, will sing and the Centennial male quartet also will take part. The chorus choir will give an anthem. The congregation also will be asked to take part in singing several old-time hymns. Rev. E. C. Phillee will preach the sermon.

MYSTERY SHOTS GIVE POLICE

There was a series of mystery shots in various parts of Oakland at early hours this morning. Patrolman Robert Hunter, going off duty at 3 a. m. this morning at Thirtieth and Telegraph, said that he heard two shots and after a short interval three more at Thirtieth and Grove streets. Officers from central station searched the vicinity but failed to solve the mystery.

Half an hour later patrolman T. W. Palmer at Thirty-eighth avenue and East Fourteenth street, heard shots but found no one.

Police believe an intoxicated person on a wild auto ride was responsible for the shootings.

NAPA MAN TELLS OF BEING DRIVEN FROM BELL HOME

Says He Had to Spend Night in Barn Though Woman Was Sane.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—When the late Mrs. Teresa Bell, whose estate is now being contested by children of her household, failed to impose her views in an argument on John T. Peters of Napa county, a guest at her Glen Ellen home, she drove him from the house and he took refuge in a neighborhood barn for the night, he testified in the Superior Court here on cross examination by counsel for the contestants.

Peters, called to testify by attorneys for the executors of the Bell estate, said he was well acquainted with Thomas Bell, early day California mine operator and creator of the Bell fortune, who died at his death. Mrs. Bell disclaimed her motherhood of the Bell children in her will disposing of the $500,000 estate and the contest now being heard is to determine the question of her sanity when she made the will.

"I have no children," the witness testified Mrs. Bell told him when he was acting for her in the purchase of real estate.

How about the children on the other side of the house? he asked Mrs. Bell, he testified.

"Ask Mammy Pleasant, she knows," was Mrs. Bell's pointed reply, the witness said.

The witness said Mrs. Bell told him on another occasion that she was attacked and struck on the head with a bottle by her son, Reginald, and that the wife who was saved her from serious injury.

During the period in which he acted for Mrs. Bell in realty transactions, all of her actions were those of a sane person, Peters testified.

John H. Hunt, a judge of the San Francisco Superior Court, called to support the contention of the executors that Mrs. Bell was sane, testified that she appeared in his court as a witness about 18 years ago and that her actions then were those of a sane person.

War Mothers To Hear Talk on Next Conflict

By EDNA B. KINARD.

"The Next War—Shall We Have It?" is the question which Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee will discuss tomorrow before Oakland war mothers.

These patriotic women will celebrate an installation luncheon to which chapter members only will be admitted, followed by a program open to women eligible to the ranks of the organization. Pythian Castle will lend background to the day's festivities.

An address by the State War Mother, Mrs. M. F. Murray, an original poem by Mrs. Lydia Wolff and music will be special features of the day. The newly elected board of directors will be formally installed by Mrs. Rose Sargent of San Francisco, a national officer. Mrs. Charles J. Waterhouse will succeed Mrs. Charles D. Haines in the executive office. Mrs. Waterhouse was the charter president of the local chapter, and has been chairman during the past year of the Gold Star Mothers. Those who will be assisted with her in guiding the activities of the patriotic group this year are Vice-presidents Mrs. C. H. Nielsen, Mrs. Nellie Meyers, recording secretary Mrs. K. L. Phillips, corresponding secretary Mrs. H. W. Spencer; treasurer Mrs. C. F. Hough; auditors, Mrs. Harry A. Small, Mrs. Ella Hausmann, Mrs. Anna Dean, parliamentarian Mrs. Olive Usafogger; historian, Mrs. M. F. Murray; sergeant at arms, Mrs. D. M. Rishel.

A goat industry has been established in Oakland by Miss Clarence G. Langdon, who is finding a unique occupation for women in her local dairy. Miss Langdon has been invited to be the guest of series, and it will lend itself to such success as her mother-in-law in San Francisco. The large fireplace will be a delightful asset, about which artists and audience will gather following the concert.

Louis Persinger, assisted by Frank Moss as soloist and accompanist, will be the artists to furnish the program for the next event Sunday evening, January 21, at 8:30 p. m.

Assisting at the reception which will follow the program will be Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Stringham, Fletcher Ames, Charles Mallory, Linton J. E. Havre, Paul A. Tietzen, Walter Seaver, Julian T. Waybar, Lawrence Strauss, A. Lauscher, Glenn C. Bernhart, Major and Mrs. Charles F. Wieland, Dr. and Mrs. Clark Poston, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Snook, Madam Lydia Surran, the Misses Florence Selby, Elizabeth Simpson, Gertrude Seaver, Florence Richardson, Elizabeth K. Dahl, Muriel Englar.

Berkeley League of Women Voters has in anticipation for tomorrow a program of great interest to those who are following public affairs. Subjects will be presented from both affirmative and negative viewpoints. The speakers are announced as follows:

"Extension of the Tax Limit," for Charles D. Heywood, against Carl T. Bartlett.

"Preferential System of Voting," for Mrs. L. E. Blochman, against W. R. Ellis.

"City Manager Form of Government," for Professor Samuel C. May, against Charles D. Heywood.

The league meets in Unity hall, Bancroft way and Dina street, Berkeley at 2:30 p. m.

R. W. Kearney, attorney and executive officer of the state commission of housing and immigration, will be the speaker tomorrow before the bi-monthly meeting of the President's Council of Alameda county, in the Oakland Y. W. C. A. building. He will review affairs which have to do with the work in which he is engaged. Mrs. Blanche Eastman, president, will preside as chairman of the luncheon and program which will follow. A business meeting of the council will precede the noon hour.

The executives and former executives of women's organizations in the county will be asked to give endorsement to the community property bill which will find support generally from the women of California before the state legislature.

A study of dramatic structure and an outline of the conditions which will govern the spring contests will be features of the program to be presented tonight before the scenario and short story section of the College Women's Club. The women interested in original writing will meet in the Bancroft way clubhouse at 7:30 p. m.

To accumulate funds with which to purchase apparatus for Frick school, the local parent-teacher association is announcing a card party Friday at the home of Mrs. Kenneth C. Frick, 2522 Sixty-first avenue. A tea will follow the hour's game.

A dance in Redmen's hall is the means which the Elmhurst Parent-Teacher Association has taken of adding to a treasury which looks out after school needs. The mothers are claiming the community as their guest on Saturday night, arranging a delightful affair for the closing of the week.

Alameda Author to Make Tour of Latin America

MISS ELSIE MCCORMICK, Alameda author, who will sail on the steamer "Ecuador" next Thursday for South American ports.

Elsie McCormick, Recently Home from Orient, to Continue Travels

ALAMEDA, Jan. 10.—A tour of Central America, Panama and Cuba with a view to gathering material for a series of newspaper and magazine articles is being planned by Miss Elsie McCormick of Alameda who will sail on the Pacific Mail steamer Ecuador next Thursday afternoon.

Miss McCormick, a University of California graduate, has traveled extensively during the last few years and returned to her home town after a long stay in China, Japan and Korea. She is the author of two books on the Far East, "A Distant Land in China" and "The Unexplored Land of a Shanghai Baby." She is now at work on a novel portraying various phases of

DORNEY-WALSH

INDUSTRIAL OUT JURY STILL OUT

Unable to reach a verdict after more than 36 hours of deliberation, at 11 o'clock last night the jury in the case of John Dorney and Thomas Walsh, standing eleven to one for conviction, was locked up for the night.

The trial of the two men accused of burglary began five weeks ago.

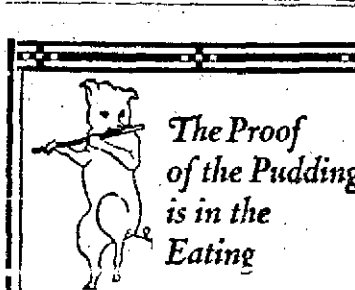

During the trial Attorney Elwell, for the defense, made sensational charges, accusing Police Chief James T. Drew, Police Inspectors Timothy Flynn and E. A. Wallman, James Beghan, secretary to the police chief, and a number of newspapermen with conspiring to send his clients to jail.

life among the white population of the Orient.

During her stay in the Far East, Miss McCormick had many unusual experiences. She climbed the sacred mountain of Taishan, with Chinese pilgrims, visited the birthplace of Confucius, took houseboat trips in the interior of Fukien province to points seldom visited by foreigners, attended functions given by the president of China and was entertained on several occasions by Dr. and Mrs. Sun Yat Sen.

At the conclusion of her Central American tour, Miss McCormick will return to New York City to complete her literary work.

Prince Plans Plain Life After Wedding

TOKYO, Jan. 10.—The prince adopted the plain foreign style of living in order to set an example of economy. Japanese of the better class have up to now organized their households on a double basis, the foreign and Japanese living, which is deemed expensive. It is also expected that everything in the imperial household before long will be completely modernized.

Cantilever Shoe

The Shoe for Happiness

"Nonsense!" you say. "Happiness doesn't depend upon shoes." Doesn't it? Let's see. Can you be happy with a twinge in your foot here, a cramp there, a numbness in your great toe, an insufferable feeling of weight on your arches, a general aching from foot trouble?

Of course, you can't. Test it out for yourself. The joy of buying the new fashions, the pleasant anticipation of a holiday—all can be gloomed by foot discomfort.

But, by wearing the Cantilever Shoe you escape all of the discomforts brought on by ill-fitting shoes. You build foot strength and beauty because the curved flexible arch, like the arch of your own foot, permits free exercise of the muscles; you promote better circulation by giving every part of your foot sufficient room and by properly fitting and supporting it at all points; you enjoy life more because your feet are really comfortable.

Buy a pair tomorrow and see how much shoes can add to your happiness.

Whatever the cleaning job—Old Dutch does it more economically

Old Dutch is trained for economy—Nature made its soft, flat particles to be the ideal all-round cleanser.

Every flaky particle works—erases the dirt—cleans more surface—doesn't scratch or injure surfaces.

No hard, chunky grit to scratch and wear things out; or to roughen surfaces and let the dirt be ground in.

Old Dutch leaves no greasy film or scratched surface to collect dirt and make cleaning difficult.

Mayonnaise Dressing

1 cup Mazola      ½ teaspoon Salt
3 tablespoons Lemon Juice or Vinegar
1 Egg Yolk      ½ teaspoon Sugar
½ teaspoon Paprika

Add well mixed seasoning to egg, with one teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar, and beat well, adding one teaspoon Mazola at a time until mixture thickens, after which the Mazola may be added more rapidly. Thin with lemon juice or vinegar when necessary.

Why thousands of women are now making their own Mayonnaise

IT is very easy to make the most delicious mayonnaise you ever tasted, with Mazola.

Mazola-made Mayonnaise is delightfully smooth and creamy, and always firm and fresh. And it keeps longer without getting rancid or "separating out." You can be certain that Mazola-Mayonnaise is always pure and wholesome, and that the eggs you use in it are absolutely fresh.

You'll find, also, that Mazola thickens your mayonnaise more quickly. This saves you considerable time and labor.

Why not use the Mazola you have, or get a can from your grocer, and try the recipe given here? See how simple it is to make perfect mayonnaise. Mazola is packed and sealed in sterilized tins, on our own premises, under expert supervision. Your grocer sells it in pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon tins. The large sizes are most economical.

Mazola is never sold in bottles or in bulk—as are ordinary salad oils. If Mazola is not satisfactory, return it, and get your money back.

Order Mazola from your grocer today.

SPRECKELS LOSES IN BANK FIGHT AND GULES OUT

Long Struggle For Control of First National Comes to an End.

The fight for the control of the First National Bank and its affiliated First National Trust Company of San Francisco which has been drawn out for several months, came to an end yesterday afternoon when the so-called Radcliffe-Spreckels faction went down to defeat by 51-15 against 17-0. With Spreckels were ousted the interests represented by former United States Senator James D. Phelan and Rolla V. Watt, the pioneer business man.

To succeed Spreckels and his followers the stockholders elected a board of directors of which John A. Hooper, lumberman, is head and becomes the new executive of the bank. James K. Moffitt remains as vice-president.

The new board of directors is as follows:
Clinton H. Kroll, Adams, Kroll & Co.
Walter S. Moffitt, president
Eastern Oregon Lumber Company.
James K. Moffitt, vice-president
Blake, Moffitt & Towne.
W. T. Smith, vice-president
Baker, Hamilton & Pacific Company.
Clinton E. Warden, president A. N. Towne Company.
George D. Cooper of W. & J. Sloan.

Samuel H. Boardman, Balfour, Guthrie & Co.
Robert T. Devlin, Devlin & Devlin.
Robert E. Easton, secretary and manager Santa Maria Gas Company.
Arthur Goodall, Goodall, Perkins & Co.
E. C. Holmes, vice-president the Holmes Investment Co.
John A. Hooper, lumber and shipping.
F. C. Morgan, J. S. Morgan & Sons.

Warren Oliver, Jr., attorney.

OUTSIDE DIRECTORS.

The late two named were members of the old board but opposed to Spreckels. The Spreckels members of the disinterested who were ousted were Rolla V. Watt, George Whitfield and Rolla V. Watt.

One of the chief factors in the row that has been waged for several months in the bank, had its beginning in a plan of merger with the Crocker National Bank. Spreckels as president of the First National Bank was willing to merge providing he could remain as president of the combined banks. To this William H. Crocker of the Crocker National and a considerable faction in the First National Bank was opposed.

From this arose a controversy of great bitterness which involved a large portion of the business world of San Francisco. Some weeks ago it became known that Spreckels, possibly seeking ultimate defeat in his fight to retain control of the First National, had secured large blocks of stock of the Merchants National of San Francisco and had pooled interests with James Henderson, head of the strong string of banks in the interior headed by the Sacramento-San Joaquin bank with headquarters in Sacramento, for a possible merger.

Just what now Spreckels will now make to put through this proposed combination remains to be seen. Spreckels is known as a fighter and may be defeated again but he will not give up easily.

Company H Interest Growing in Hayward

HAYWARD, Jan. 10.—With the recent appointment of former Adjutant General J. J. Boree to be brigadier general, activity on the proposal to revive Company H of the California National Guard is being renewed with increased interest. It is probable that a department of the government will be carried on here in January or during February.

The proposal is at present being handled by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce, including R. A. Brantford, Russell L. Robinson and George C. Smith. An interview of employees of the city, to determine the attitude which the employees who are members of the company to attend the two weeks of training held by the state camp during the summer has only been started. It is believed that the employees will generally regard the proposal in a favorable light. Company H, which became a part of the National Army during the World War, was an infantry company and saw service on the Mexican border during 1916. It was served during the World War.

In addition to lecturing at the University of Wisconsin, Summer School this summer, Pichel will also give a series of lectures on the art of the theater in Chicago. Professor James M. O'Neill, of the University of Wisconsin, who invited Pichel to become a member of the Wisconsin Summer School Faculty will himself be a member of the Summer School Faculty of the University of California here.

Carries Dead Wife 15 Miles; Maniac

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 12.—Senior Francisco Zorillo, a wealthy banker, was one of the residents of Combarba who escaped the recent earthquake and flood disaster there, but he is a homeless maniac as a result of his experience. His wife was struck by a falling wall when the quake occurred. Senior Zorillo, believing her only unconscious, carried her 15 miles to high ground to escape the flood. Teaching safety, the banker found his wife dead. His reason gave away completely.

GEORGE BEBAN'S "SIGN OF ROSE"

HERE IN FILMS

Four-Day Engagement at State Theater Makes Good
Actor's Promise.

Some months ago George Beban, the portrayer of Italian characters, played an engagement on the stage in Oakland in "The Sign of the Rose." He made the statement at that time from the stage that he was returning to his studio in Los Angeles to start the filming of this play, and promised that it would be a good, clean, wholesome picture, and in fact something new and refreshing to the lovers of motion pictures.

Beban has made good his promise, and his photoplay version of "The Sign of the Rose" opens a four-day engagement at the State Theater today. The managers of the State Theater announce the booking of this picture, and believe in offering this production along with a vaudeville bill that they are giving Oakland theater-goers the greatest amusement value in many months.

Those who are able to are urged to attend the matinees to avoid the crowds at night.

FIRE PROTECTION UP TO COUNCIL

RICHMOND, Jan. 10.—A special meeting of the city council will be held tomorrow evening to consider the question of fire protection and fire hydrants.

It is proposed to remove fire hydrants from Macdonald avenue and install them at every other block on Nevin avenue, one street further north and parallel to Macdonald. By this move, larger hydrants would be installed on Nevin which would give heavier pressure for fighting fires on Macdonald avenue and neighboring streets and would result in making more parking spaces available on the city's main street.

Fire protection for the new Junior high school building will also be taken up.

Second Children's Play Announced

BERKELEY, Jan. 10.—Encouraged by the response received after their announcement of a production of "Alice in Wonderland," the Playhouse, which is using the Berkeley Theater to give its plays, announces that the second children's play will be "The Return of Proserpine," by Florence Keper Frank. This play will be produced at the Berkeley Theater for the first time on Saturday afternoon, February 17, and repeated on three successive Saturdays.

"Alice in Wonderland," the first children's play, will be given for the first time at the Berkeley Theater on the afternoon of Saturday, January 20. Alice Gerstenberg, author of the dramatization, being used by The Playhouse, recently has written that organization, telling of the success of a recent production of her play in the Children's Theater in Chicago. This will be the first time that "Alice in Wonderland" will have been produced on the Pacific coast.

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES.

NOW seems to be the proper time to knock another popular suspicion about things theatrical into the proverbial disreputable chapeau or head-piece.

From time immemorial it has been generally supposed that when an actor or actress left one management to appear under the banners of another his or her name was never spoken of in the first theater, that he or she was as popular as the ostracized son of an irate father.

All of which may be true and this instance may simply be the exception that proves the rule. At any rate, in the program of the Fulton theater this week there is a bit of a thing entitled "Hail to Nana Bryant," which is not only well written, but is expressive of the spirit of co-operation marking the trend of American affairs.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

A Hindoo Circus is being presented at Thirty-first and Grove streets. The circus is being presented by Hindoo performers and features a Bengal tiger "which answers every command given by her trainer."

To get down to the story, this little piece of writing is not only a tribute to Miss Bryant, who was only recently a leading woman at the local house and who has even more recently gone to the Alcazar in San Francisco, but it is more or less of an urge to the theater patrons to skip across the bay and see their erstwhile favorite.

"We want to suggest to all our Fulton friends that they do the kindly and gracious thing, in running over to San Francisco and giving welcome and greetings to Nana Bryant at the Alcazar theater," the item reads. "No more charming or gracious lady has ever adorned the stage than Miss Bryant. We congratulate the Alcazar since, upon her acquisition. For three seasons Miss Bryant was leading woman here and no one did more than she to help its solid foundation of artistic and financial success. There is more to it, but that is sufficient to get the idea.

Oakland Girl Returns As Star Of Screen

Dorothy Valera, the beautiful "Broadway Madonna," now on the screen at the Pantages theater, is a local product and it is only right that her first screen should be made. Miss Valera comes from a talented Eastbay family and is a graduate of the Oakland high school. Her aunt, Ida Valera, was one of the stars at the old Tivoli in San Francisco and her father, Thomas Valera, is a handmaster of no mean talent. Brothers and sisters are equally well known in musical and dramatic circles.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

The English actors entertained the American actors at a banquet in the Hotel Dan in New York last night. The dinner was preceded by a battle royal in which Osmond Tearle received a handsome black eye. He claimed to be a non-partisan, and a peace-maker.

In addition to Miss Valera there is another local actor in the cast of "Broadway Madonna." It is Leigh Willard, the dramatic stock actor who is now fulfilling an engagement at the Fulton theater.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

It now develops that Porter Emerson Browne's new comedy, announced for early presentation, is a satire on Bolshevism and Central Europe.

George Bancroft is the latest to get the role of "Old Bill M. P." It would seem from the many changes that Sam Harris is having a little difficulty in finding the man for the role.

Deiro's startling advertisement in vaudeville situation apparently was productive of results. The famous piano-accompanist has been booked on the Keith time, and Mrs. Deiro, who is known professionally as Ruby Lang at the Century, is wearing the big smile.

MOUNTAIN VIEW LASSIE EAGERLY AWAIT'S 'DOG DAY'

Jean Mockbie and Pal Ready For Contest; Invitation to Youngsters General.

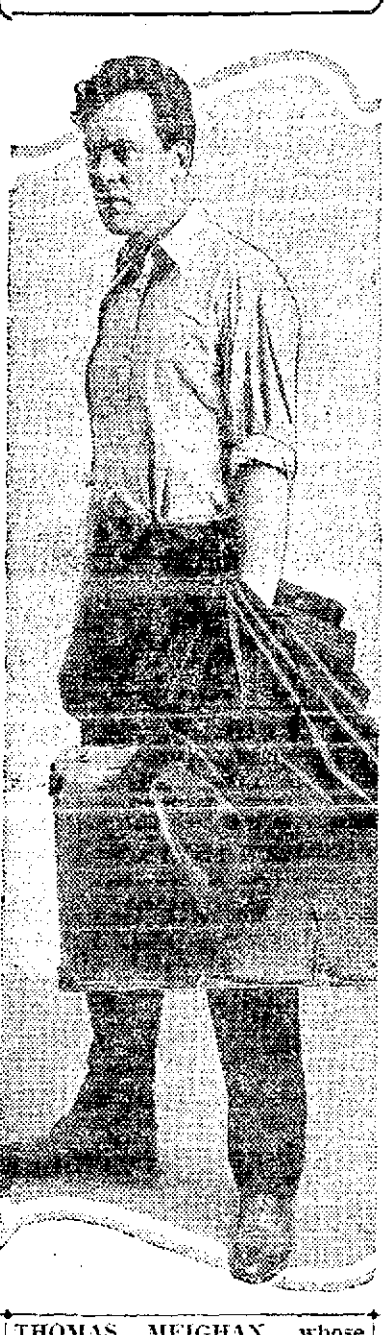

"My Dog" Day, which is to be observed soon, means more than a mere name to little Jean Mockbie of Mountain View and her big pal "Spot." Spot has been Jean's companion and bodyguard ever since she was able to toddle, and Jean's parents never worry about her as long as Spot is with her.

Boys and girls of 17 or under who have dogs that have earned a place in their affections, are requested to have their pictures taken with their pets and send the photos to the "My Dog" Day Editor, The TRIBUNE, Oakland. If possible, please send the films from which the pictures were made. The best of these photographs will be published in The TRIBUNE.

A "My Dog" Day essay contest will be announced later to give the boys and girls a chance to give literary expression to their love for their dumb companions. The directions governing this phase of the "My Dog" Day movement will be printed in The TRIBUNE in the near future.

Among the outstanding features of the "My Dog" Day celebration will be loud barking tests, and demonstrations of courage and faithfulness. Hardly a day passes that there is not some mention made somewhere of a dog that has saved human life at the risk of his own, or has in some way displayed courage or fidelity in an extraordinary degree.

Thomas Meighan Here in "Back Home and Broke"

THOMAS MEIGHAN, whose latest success, "Back Home and Broke," is being shown at the American theater starting today.

Round Eight of "The Leather Pushers" Also On Program.

Fresh from his triumph in "Man-Slaughter," Thomas Meighan brings to the screen one more admirable characterization in "Back Home and Broke," which begins a ten-day engagement at the American theater today.

Meighan's newest vehicle was expressly made for him by George Ade, America's celebrated humorist.

ous moral picture is replete with the characteristic Ade humor. Round Eight of the new series of J. C. Witwer's "The Leather Pushers" and a delightful concert by the American Theater orchestra under the direction of Miss Carol Weston and Miss Phyllida Ashley are offered in conjunction with the showing of the Meighan film. "Back Home and Broke" will be presented at 12:25, 2:20, 4:25, 6:30 and 9:05.—Advertisement.

A Pair of Real Pals

JEAN MOCKBIE, of Mountain View and her pal, "SPOT," who are looking forward to observing "My Dog" Day in future.

dimary degree. It is for these dog heroes and for those dogs that would prove themselves worthy. If the pinch came, that "My Dog" Day is being observed.

Valuable prizes are to be given, but they will not be awarded on a basis of pedigree or mere physical beauty. Nobility and beauty of character will be among the traits which will figure in judging the prize winners.

Get busy, all you youngsters of 17 or younger, and send in photos of yourselves with your dogs.

LEAGUE ELECTS TOMORROW. ALAMEDA, Jan. 10.—Election of officers for the ensuing year will occupy the attention tomorrow afternoon, of members of the Alameda Housewives' League at a meeting to be held in Legion Hall.

REBELS BLOWN TO ATOMS. SOFIA, Jan. 13.—Thirty Bulgarian rebels who refused to surrender north of Sofia were blown to atoms when their position was mined.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

DOUG FAIRBANKS AND WIFE DIAN AND WIFE LILIAN NEW FILM FIRM

Jackie Cogan Offered Half Million Cash to Join Independent Artists.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Douglas Fairbanks and his wife, Mary Pickford, as the first step of a plan to enter upon independent production and distribution of cinema features made by other leading actors of the screen, have offered Jackie Cogan, child film actor, a contract for four pictures and have announced plans for an expansion of the United Artists' Organization, the Los Angeles Times stated today.

The expansion plan includes the making, under the supervision of Fairbanks and Miss Pickford, of feature films by eight or nine of the most popular screen actors.

At present, the United Artists' Organization consists of Miss Pickford, Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, David Wark Griffith and Charles Ray, and the new plan involves the closing of the Griffith studios on Long Island, N. Y., and the return of his organization to Los Angeles.

Four years ago, Jackie received $75 a week, and then only after his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cogan, had refused to sign a contract for his services at $40 a week, it is said.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—The earnings of Jackie Cogan, child motion picture actor, are to be impounded in a trust fund, it became known, when his mother, Mrs. Lillian R. Cogan, received the permission of the Superior Court to be relieved of his guardianship, a duty she sought and obtained.

LESS MONEY IN POCKET. CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Asked how she knew her husband's wages had been reduced, Mrs. Henry Woods told the court: "Because he had less money in his pockets."

A jointed spring to replace the long spiral spring on screen doors has been invented.

Sore Eyes

If your eyes or lids are sore; if they itch, burn or feel dry; if your vision is blurred, your eyelids stick; if you are obliged to wear glasses, go to any drug store and get a bottle of Ben-Opto. Dissolve one in a fourth of a glass of water and bathe the eyes as directed. Sound and improved eyesight will make the world look brighter.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers Or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a glassful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then at last be free. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders. Jad Salts cures many ailments: makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. As all means for your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

DANGER TELLS STORY OF WOODING AND ONE WEDDING

Miss Fontaine Waging Penniless War Against Whitney Millions.

"I am waging a penniless war against the Whitney millions but the charges of perjury and fraud preferred against me are false in every respect. If the authorities want me to return to the east and face the charges I will gladly do so."

This statement was made today by Evelyn Burrows Fontaine, Oriental dancer, accused last week of perjury and fraud in connection with her million-dollar breach of promise suit against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, whom she alleges is the father of her baby boy.

In Los Angeles, where Miss Fontaine has been residing with her mother since she left Berkeley and a series of debts and a number of increased creditors, headed by Mrs. Edwin Carlisle Williams, social leader of Thousand Oaks, whose home the dancer rented before "The Careful Deceiver," her musical show, became defunct.

The accusations of perjury and fraud made against Miss Fontaine were resultant of documents filed by Whitney, who is the son of Harry Payne Whitney, in response to Miss Fontaine's recent suit. Whitney set forth that Miss Fontaine secured her acquisition of marriage from Sterling Adair under false pretenses.

It had been the contention of Miss Fontaine that she and Adair lived together for only two hours after the ceremony. Whitney attempted to show that the marital alliance had terminated after more than a year of wedded life.

Justice Thompson of Stock, New York, ordered a complete investigation, stating that the district attorney take the matter before the grand jury for indictments.

SOON DISCOVERS ERROR.

Today Miss Fontaine divulged her side of the first marriage story, setting forth that she learned of Adair's previous marriage two hours after she had become his bride and forthwith sent him about his business. The marriage, she said, was performed under the objections of her mother, who had never approved of Adair.

"It was during a dinner we were having just a couple of hours after the wedding that I learned that Adair had not been legally free to marry me," said Miss Fontaine.

"Mother did not approve of the match anyway and she threatened to sue. A month later he deceived me. She said that she would not permit us to live together until he was free."

"At that time Adair was in the navy. He had married me during a brief leave of absence and was forced to return to his ship immediately. A month later he returned and visited us at the Hotel des Artistes in New York. He pleaded with me to reconsider but was given no encouragement."

"In November, while mother and I were residing at the Gotham hotel, Adair returned again. I refused to see him, but he took an apartment in the hotel. It was situated on two floors below us. Then mother and I moved to the Claridge hotel. I was in the Zierfeld roof show at the time."

"We were not at the Claridge long when Adair again turned up. This time he had been dishonorably discharged from the navy and was in a mental condition. He was living on the tenth floor and he took a room on the third."

FEEL SORRY FOR BOY.

"Directly after he established residence there his mother came and secured him a position. She also pleaded with me to give her son a chance. I had to tell her no, but when she left and we moved to a three-room apartment on Seventy-second street we felt sorry for the boy and permitted him to come to live with us."

"While he was there mother and I occupied the bedroom and he slept on the couch. My mother was with me continuously, and Adair and I were never alone. He worked in the daytime, and I worked at night in the show. Two weeks after he moved in he became very depressed and I became disgusted. We moved out, and left him."

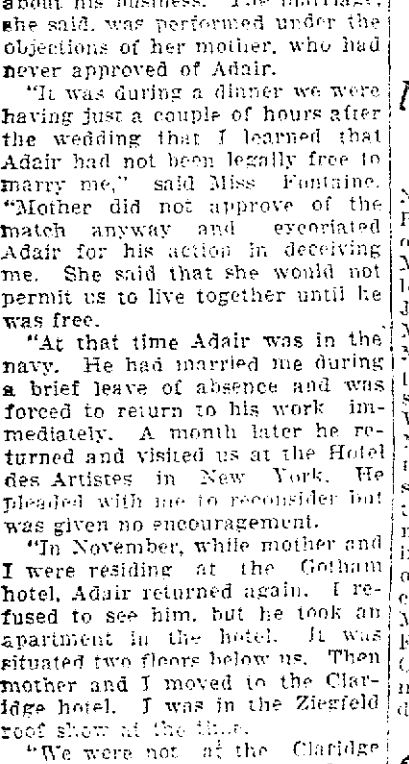

"After he left the hotel he came to my mother's home in Pennsylvania and still lives there. I had a letter from him saying that he wished to bring suit for divorce. My mother learned that he had filed his action without saying that he was not legally free to marry me because of a previous marriage and we notified him that I would file an action for annulment."

"During this time Miss Fontaine was with young Whitney, who was engaged to be married. She said that she kept putting off the wedding until she could be free legally of Adair."

When an officer is not the subject of atoms that compose the object are vibrating very fast.

CITY COUNCIL TO ENFORCE RULE OF 50-FOOT STREETS

Resolution Affects All New or Old Tracts to Be Opened.

Any real estate firm or other organization opening new or old tracts hereafter must dedicate streets which shall be not less than 50 feet wide.

A resolution was adopted today by the city council requiring that this standard width of streets shall be enforced, and, as every new tract must first have its map approved by the council, it is believed by the officials that the new resolution will eliminate narrow streets hereafter.

Carl Hardy, superintendent of the electrical department, was appointed as the city's representative upon a "joint committee for the protection of underground structures," which is being formed by all the big light and power companies to meet questions concerning the rapidly growing underground wire traffic.

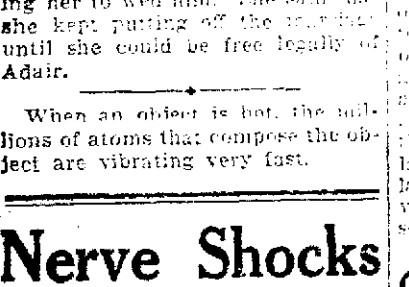

George Hatch, school director, was granted a 30-day leave of absence by the council, he being an elected official.

The mayor advised the council that Atlantic street should be closed to allow the playground department to cross this street and take in a little tract bounded by Atlantic, Campbell and Peralta, extending a street Oakland playground. The letter was referred to the street department.

A communication was received from the Steinway Terrace Park Improvement club, complaining against smoke from contracting yards at High street and Courtland avenue. The communication was filed.

ALBERGER TELLS REALTY MEN OF TRANSPORTATION

Problems of Eastbay District Discussed by Traffic Expert.

Street transportation problems of Oakland and the Eastbay district were discussed at noon luncheon of the Oakland Real Estate Board at the Hotel Oakland today by W. R. Alberger, vice-president and general manager of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways.

Today's meeting was the first since the adoption of an extensive program of improvements by the board which included the following items:

More street openings and more street widening.
The construction of a great boulevard between Telegraph avenue and Grove street to the Berkeley city line, beginning at Clay street.

SPORTS CLEARED IN DROPPING OF STANFORD STARS U. S. RAIL BOARD OFFERS ALTERNATIVE PLAN FOR C. P.

Investigation Shows 'Flunks' Due to Accumulation of Past Records.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 10.—Investigation in the cases of the six grid stars, the two track athletes, and the freshmen who were disqualified on the count of poor scholarship here last week today brought to light the fact that none of the upholders of sophomore students "flunked" as a result of failure in examinations during the football season, but as the result of an accumulation of past records.

It is necessary, according to the rules of a new "point system" put into effect at Stanford, for all students to attain approximately a "C" average each college quarter. "A" grade points is granted for each hour of "D" grade. One additional point is granted for each grade above that and one is taken away in case of failure. No student of sophomore standing or above may receive less than fifteen grade points, which is equivalent to fifteen hours of "D." Thus, he may make all his hours if he is registered in thirteen or fourteen and still be disqualified. If he fails to make more than twenty-two counts, or eleven hours of "C" grade, he is placed on probation. Three quarters of probation disqualifies a student and it was on this count that most of the athletes were disqualified from registration at Stanford this quarter. When a student is placed on probation, he cannot get off until he has made a "C" average and has in addition made up such points as he has lost.

NO DECISION REACHED

While the commission may have no power to impose any conditions upon the Union Pacific in this proceeding, it suggested the terms of the proposed rates between the same points via its various routes.

5—The Southern Pacific shall

McNAMARA, BEALL AND MURCHIO GRADUATE TO PROFESSIONALS FROM TRIBUNE LEAGUE

OAKS SIGN PITCHER GEORGE MURCHIO OF LOCAL WINTER LEAGUE

Howard Gregory Lands Jimmy McNamara and Rodger Beall For Wichita Club; Other Players Are Sought by St. Louis Cards

By EDDIE MURPHY
Signed contracts of three more TRIBUNE Midwinter Leaguers are today on their way to the office of Secretary John Farrell of the National Association of Professional Baseball, and in his records will add more graduates from The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter League. Pitcher James McNamara and Catcher Rodger Beall of the Del Monte Cafe team, in the American Division, and Pitcher George Murchio of the Crystal Laundry, in the National Division, are the latest graduates. Murchio has twirled for the Washers for a couple of seasons and his work has been watched closely by several scouts. He will report to the Oakland Club at Myrtlebeach this spring. Herbert McFarlin, secretary of the local club, landed Murchio who, in the opinion of Bonus Mitz and other members of the club, is a fine prospect.

Major Leagues Pay Big Sums For Athletes

Both Beall and McNamara were offered contracts with several major and minor league clubs, including the New York Yankees, but on the advice of Joe Devine they decided to sign with Wichita. Gregory followed the Del Monte team through The TRIBUNE League, and he thinks that he has a couple of boys who will go up to the major leagues for a big price after spending one season in the Tribune League. Joe Devine had first call on the pair of youngsters, and as Joe is scouting for the New York Yankees he got permission to send McNamara and Beall to Gregory with the understanding that the New York club has first claim on them if they develop into big league material, which they no doubt will, as they are two of the best promising lads to ever go out of the local clubs.

Coast League Owners Are In Very Wrong With Big Leagues.

By DAVIS J. WALSH, International News Service Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Bearded Forty Niners who invaded California with pick, shovel and wash pan in search of gold were rank amateurs in the horrible art of making money when compared with the professional operators of the Pacific Coast League. Every day, in every way, these worthy gentlemen are growing richer and richer, and the really unique angle of the proposition is that there is no physical labor involved beyond the admittedly annoying gesture of endorsing the checks as fast as they come in. This in time is bound to become a bit fatiguing, but otherwise the life is endurable. The same may be said of Rockefeller's business.

Three Other Players Reported on Their Way.

Beall is also a St. Mary's college boy. His contract arrived yesterday from Vancouver, where he went to spend the holidays with his folks. He was the class of the young catchers in the American Division. Both Beall and McNamara have reached contracts and will be carried all season by Gregory. Phil Koenner, manager of the Coast Fire and Rubber Company team in the Coast Division, announces that his team will send at least three boys into professional ball. It has been unofficially announced that Hal Makin, his shortstop, and Mike Morrow, his pitcher, have already signed with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League. Koenner could not confirm the report, except to say that he knows several clubs were after the two players, and that the Cardinals are the favorite player being sought is not known.

Rodgers' Dog Wins Field Trial Finals

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—The last two events of the Pacific Coast Field Trials club were run off yesterday with some interesting results. Bill Rodgers, former manager of the Sacramento baseball club, won the first event, the shooting dog stake and Fair Oaks Eugene M., the property of the Fair Oaks Kennel club, won the all-age stake. Black Josephine, owned by Norton Wake of Gridley, was second in the shooting dog stake, and the Fair Oaks Kennel Club's runner up in the all-age stake.

ALL WEIGHT TEAM PLAYERS MUST PASS INSPECTION TONIGHT

Officials of Eastbay Basketball League Will Put Hoop Tossers on Scales at Oakland "Y"; Opening Games of Schedule Start Monday

By DOUG. MONTELL
All players of weight teams will have their final opportunity to weigh in tonight at the Oakland Y. M. C. A., according to word from W. A. Kearns this morning. Officials of the East Bay Basketball League will be on hand from 7:30 until 9 to pass upon the candidates for all members of teams in the 120-lb., 130-lb. and 145-lb. divisions. It is necessary that every man signed as a member of any team in these three divisions be passed upon by the committee before being used in a game. The decision of the committee at the initial meeting of the organization of the league was that all men who were signed between that date and the first game played by a team in any division should be eligible. However, if weight men are to be signed between to-day and the opening date of play of any team special arrangements must be made for them to weigh in unless they appear tonight.

Technical Hi Loses to S. F. Poly Quintet

Oakland Tech. lost the second basketball game of the practice season yesterday afternoon at the Technical High court to the San Francisco Polytechnic quintet by a score of 27 to 20. Coach Hansen alternated his first and second string men, using the second string men in the first and third quarters, while the veteran Tech. shooters played the second and fourth periods. Poly took advantage of the inexperience of Tech's second string men and scored the winning points in the third period. The score at half time stood 11-10 in Poly's favor.

Three Contests Not Assigned.

Three games in the 145-lb. division were not assigned, due to lack of information on available "heavy court space. These three games are the Acorn Athletic club vs. the Oakland "Y," Colored "Y" vs. the All Comers and Acorn Athletic club vs. the All Comers, will be assigned playing dates following the final games of the 145-lb. division that have been scheduled, probably on February 14, 15, 16 or 17. The courts and playing times will be announced at a later date.

Looks Like Oldham Means to Retire

Red John Oldham is not only playing winter ball in California against the rules, but he's advanced so far in his rebellion that now he's manager of a winter league team. And according to reports from Los Angeles, two of his players are Harry Manush, recruit Deane, and Fred Herman, first season prospect recently traded by Detroit to the Boston Red Sox in the Rip Collins deal. Now, what's going to be done about that?

Cleveland Hurlers To Get Early Start

The impression was that with the major leagues' season starting a week later, players would go into training later, but some of the managers seem eager to take advantage of the extra week. One announcement is that the Cleveland hurlers will be sent to Hot Springs for workouts as early as February 1.

Archer Is Property Of Brooklyn Dodgers

Manager Frank Chance of the Boston Red Sox is asked to take another guess about hiring Jimmy Archer, veteran catcher, as a coach for his pitchers. Officials of the Brooklyn club call attention to the fact that Archer is on the reserve list of the Brooklyn club and if Boston wants his services it will, at least, be expected to request the favor of Archer's release, but Manager Robinson, on the other hand, says that if Archer wants to return to baseball he can be of use on the Dodgers as a coach of pitchers.

Fred Toney to Join Cardinals This Year

Fred Toney, who failed to report to the St. Louis Nationals last year, because of illness in his family, will probably be a member of the Cardinals this year. Manager Branch Rickey announced.

PRELIMINARY BOXERS THRILL THE FANS WITH SNAPPY SCRAPPING

Ray Long and Gene Cline Box a Draw—Harold Farese and Leopold Break Even—McCann Stops Eddie Hanley in the Second

By BOB SHAND.
Mr. Simpson's scrap party at the Auditorium last night was entirely satisfactory with the exception of the main event between Frankie Burns and Frankie Farren which was reminiscent of something the kitten had fetched in. Farren would not lead and Burns was missing by the proverbial mile. At times the boys clung tenaciously and pounded away in the general direction of nowhere apparently having forgotten that they had but four rounds in which to settle their differences. Farren was to blame more than Burns as the Oakland boy did more than his share of the fighting but Burns had an off night and his hitting resembled an ancient lady swatting flies with a broom. There was not a damaging punch struck during the four rounds and most of the customers were on their way before the draw decision was rendered by the judges.

New Trainer For Oaks Not New at Game

Herbie McFarlin announced this morning that the colors of the uniforms for the Oaks have been changed. The order for the new uniforms was placed yesterday and will be delivered in a few days. The new uniforms will be white and the traveling grey, with the mentioned trimmings.

Boxing Chatter

Solly Seeman took Benny Vierra into camp in the main event of the San Francisco Arcadia club's show last night. Benny took the first two rounds but Seeman finished strong. Other results were:

Young Papke vs. Eddie White, draw.
Dynamite George vs. Frank Farrell, draw.
Charley Hendricks won from Danny Burns.
Joe Powell defeated Eddie Sylvester.
Young Springfield beat Tommy Harris.
Harry Baker scored a technical knockout over "Happy" Carlson.

Harold Farese and Joe Leopold Draw

Harold Farese out-smarted Joe Leopold but Joe stood his ground and did most of the leading. He got a draw for this although some of the customers would have preferred a Farse decision. Harold knows his stuff and with another four-round bout under his belt he will be hard to beat.

ACTION IS NEEDED.

Alameda county must take definite and positive action on the estuary bridge or tube question by June 30th or pay, in addition to the costs of delay, a $5,000 a month penalty.

The message of Lansing H. Beach, Chief of Engineers of the War Department, to Congressman J. H. MacCallister leaves no question of doubt as to the Government's position. Unless the county commits itself, legally, financially and definitely before June 30th, he says, to the building of either a bridge or tube a penalty of $5,000 a month will be evoked by the Government.

The Chief of Engineers takes no position relative to a tube or bridge and, naturally, could not. It is now up to the county to take positive and definite action, he cautions.

There has been some controversy as to the advisability of a bridge or tube. The sentiment in Alameda city, in particular, and among shipping men has been for a tube. Before that may be built it will be necessary to pass a bond issue. If that is not carried the supervisors, according to a statement they have issued, may equalize the present bridge fund available from a former bond issue and take the additional cost of the bridge out of the budget annually.

Two immediate steps are necessary. The first is to assemble authoritative information as to the cost of a bascule bridge as originally planned. The second, is the assembling of accurate data as to the cost of a tube.

The election should be called at the earliest possible date. The expense of such an election would be less to the taxpayers of the county as it falls on the same date as the municipal election in Oakland, the largest unit. The voting of the county must be simultaneous in all parts of the county.

Upon the result of this election the supervisors will proceed to carry out the original plan for a bascule bridge or, if the bonds carry, to make use of the additional available money to build a tube. What is needed now is action.

A NEW GOVERNOR.

In his inaugural address yesterday Governor Richardson reemphasized his purpose of saving millions of dollars to the people of California. Except for the paragraph on schools, the message may be said to be a direct declaration of intention. The Governor will reduce the number of state employees to 10,000 and will supplant many men now in office.

The Governor will remove from office the members of the present political machine, to substitute business for politics in state government, to abolish unnecessary offices and commissions, to restore efficiency to the various departments, to put highway construction into the hands of skilled road builders, to put the state on a budget basis, to save millions of dollars.

This is a task of magnificent proportions. To meet all the needs of the state and to save millions of dollars presupposes that many millions have been wasted in the past two years. Reckoning half the state payroll as waste, which it certainly is not, and a very liberal proportion of the money given to institutions, the sum with still to use more than millions. But the new Governor has made his budget and has laid his plans. When he says it is his purpose to save "many" millions he must be acquainted with the balance sheet and a system of computing. It is this promise which made the election interesting and it is this promise which makes the present session of the Legislature one of utmost importance.

In view of the difference between the Governor and the State Superintendent of Schools and the attitude of school men in general during the campaign it may be that Governor Richardson's reference to the school program is packed with significance.

"The educational department of the state," he said, after he had extolled education in general, "should be placed on an economical and efficient basis, waste should be eliminated, and advocates of thrift should be placed in control." The inference is none of these things is true at present and the veiled allusion is at Wood.

There will be many who will agree heartily with Governor Richardson's announced intention to remove state employees on lobbying. The spectacle of department heads, institution superintendents, and others lobbying day and night for the King Tax bill is not to be repeated. "No state employee should come to Sacramento except upon the request of the Legislature," the Governor said. "Employees residing in Sacramento should assist the Legislature when called upon, but should not assume the role of lobbyists."

Agreement is general with the hope that the statute book of 1923 will be smaller in size in a score of years.

Governor Richardson has chosen to open his term with a fighting declaration. He will fight a machine, he says, eliminate a large waste which has been suffered and save many millions of dollars. In his message upon retiring William D. Stephens, perhaps unconsciously, pointed out some of the difficulties which will be encountered. Fifty-one per cent of the total appropriations, he said, for the last two years went to the schools. The adoption of a constitutional amendment added close to $16,000,000 to the costs of school operation. With the total cost of government in the last two years $83, $11,823 and with the school expenses 51 per cent of this or over $45,000,000 it will be seen that the saving will have to come, largely, out of the balance, or the schools must be cut in a very decided manner.

Former Governor Stephens refers to those agencies which are threatened and those others which must remain as fixed charges in any budget when he says: "It is my hope that the governmental institutions which have been created and fostered under progressive and humane policies and measures, initiated by my predecessor and myself, and which I firmly believe have placed the State of California in a commanding position among all the states of the Union, may be continued and protected."

So there is in the two messages, a program and a warning of difficulties.

STRAITS BRIDGE SETTLED.

The granting of a franchise by the Supervisors of Contra Costa county for a bridge across Carquinez Straits is good news to Alameda county.

Particularly gratifying is the fact that the objections to the plans for a bridge which would serve best the greatest number of municipalities have been removed. With a change in plans there is no longer any reason for a protest to a span from Crockett to Morrow Cove near Vallejo, and danger of interference with navigation to Crockett's sugar industries has been removed.

The Contra Costa Supervisors intend there shall be no delay and that the contracting company shall prove its intent to start work at the earliest possible date. To that end they have required a bond of $50,000 to insure performance and have stipulated that work must be started within four months. Several companies were in the field and several plans were discussed. After a hearing of all and an alteration of the plans for the Morrow Cove Crockett span the decision has been made. It is up to all of Northern California to back the project so long as it is carried forward.

A bridge across the Straits puts Oakland and the Eastbay in direct line of communication with Northern California, Oregon and Canada. It will bring Vallejo and Oakland so much nearer, will shorten the trip to Sacramento and be of benefit to those who live on both sides of the straits. With its completion will come new opportunities and new obligations. Oakland must recognize the problems of the communities which will become nearer neighbors if it is to expect them to recognize her's.

The Morrow Cove Bridge can be made a bond of mutual benefits.

Legislation for the safety of automobilists and pedestrians concern methods of driving, tests before the granting of licenses and other restrictions upon the man at the wheel. Two years ago attention was paid mainly to contrivances, lights, signals and the like. If the driver can be brought up to the level of safety which distinguishes the modern automobile the whole problem will be solved.

Heads of various state institutions are not to be paid their salaries during the time they are lobbying at Sacramento, according to an announcement from the office of the new governor. To some this would appear as punishment cruel and unusual, for, by all the indications, lobbying has been the favorite sport of some of these officials.

When, as has been promised, the airplane becomes cheaper than the cycle car, it will be next to impossible to keep the poet man down.

IS FITZGERALD MELVILLE?

Sir: I met on Christmas Day your venerable friend, Captain Peter Fitzgerald. It was in the railroad station while I was buying a ticket. Hampered by an armful of packages, in my confusion one of them fell to the floor, slipping out of its issue paper wrapping. It was then that the Captain, oblivious of my spindly appearance and white hair, with his Casanova smile, bowing in his unsurpassed manner, exclaimed me from my embarrassment by relieving me of my bundles and picking up the one I had dropped.

But vision my surprise, as I turned from the window, to be greeted with a look of field-like hatred on the Captain's face! He, the embodiment of suavity, glaring at me with emerald face, gasping and hissing some strange foreign oath, holding my book, "Moby Dick," between his thumb and two fingers, with arm extended, as if it were a bomb, a rattlesnake or typhus germ.

Unmindful of the quickly gathering crowd the Captain poured out his diabolical denunciation of Herman Melville in a mixture of oaths of all the languages, including the Scandinavian.

By the time he had been extracted from a policeman by a friend I managed to glean from his ravings that Melville had stolen the whole lot of "Moby Dick," the "White Whale," from his Memoirs; that it was he, Captain Peter Fitzgerald, who had killed the white whale. Single-handed he had fought the great monster and towed his mutilated body into port, rescued the capsized whalemen from six splintered boats, suffering only the minor injury of the loss of three of his fingers.

I write this as a warning to you to keep the book out of his sight and to be careful in mentioning that you own it. Your well-wisher, JO HOGG.

DOCTOR EMIL G. HIRSCH: IN MEMORIAM.

To the Editor of the Tribune:

The newspapers state that Rev. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch of Chicago, after a brief illness, passed away on Sunday morning. Thus ends the life of the ripe old age of 71, of the leading Rabbi in the United States. It is difficult to appraise his wonderful ability, for he touched life as so many points. Not only was he Rabbi of Sinai Temple, the leading Reform congregation west of New York, but he was one of the greatest orators in the American ministry today. As professor of Hebrew at the University of Chicago, he wielded an influence, in that great school of learning, which can hardly be appreciated at this distance. On his last appearance in Oakland in 1905, he was lecturing on "Greek and Hebrew Education" at Berkeley and his grasp of his subject seemed encyclopedic, though he was then on a vacation and spoke without notes.

His greatest literary contribution was his oft-repeated address on "The Crucifixion of Jesus" wherein he scientifically proved, without the least possible doubt, that not the Jews, but the Roman soldiers were legally responsible for the death of Jesus of Nazareth.

In politics he was a staunch Republican and for the past twenty-five years was a member of the Illinois State Board of Charities. In all liberal movements, he was ever at the helm, whether for freeing the Jews or Christians from persecution, whether for reform toward prisoners or colored citizens. His pulpit was an open forum on which Jane Addams and any person with a real message could preach from his Temple. Such a man never dies, and with his passing, old in years and mourned by thousands, his spirit will be continued by his younger colleagues.

SHOULD WE COUNT THE CALORIES?

It is of some practical value to know that so-called gluten bread is practically as nutritious as ordinary bread and that one can grow fat on it, or thin off it, as readily as with or without white bread. It is of practical value to know that butter-milk and skim milk are about equally nourishing, and that popcorn and wheat flour are equally fattening or equally non-fattening, according to the quantities eaten. It is of some value to know that an apple, an egg or a small potato will furnish the same amount of energy as 12 peanuts, six almonds or two teaspoonsful of sugar. By knowledge of the comparative nutritive values of common items of food one may more readily regulate the intake to meet the actual requirements of the system.

Especially valuable to persons who are overweight is a reasonable familiarity with the surprising fuel or foot values of knick-knacks or tidbits which many of us have the habit of nibbling just as a pastime, and dainties or delicacies which we indulge in socially. Thus, one large fig is equivalent to two plates of clam chowder; a bar of milk chocolate nourishes as much as one and one-third pints of milk; a very plain ice cream soda is the equivalent in nutritive value of an orange, a slice of bread and butter and a cup of coffee with cream and sugar.

Many of these fancy sundae-like doctored-up with nuts, syrups, marshmallows and everything sweet are fully as sustaining and nourishing as an ordinary breakfast of regular victuals. No wonder some of us grow fat and the rest of us come home to dinner with little appetite.

A calorie is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one gram of water one degree (centigrade), and the average adult requires 2800 calories daily, enough heat to boil six pounds of ice. The nutritive value of various foods is measured by the amount of heat they will yield when digested and burned or oxidized in the body to supply energy or strength for muscular movements and for the working of the organs of the body. One gram (about 39 grains in an ounce) of sugar or starch yields 4 calories; one gram of protein (lean meat fibre or white of egg or cheese or the gluten of wheat) yields four calories; one gram of fat yields 9.4 calories. Therefore sugar and sweets are not more nourishing or strengthening or fattening than cheese or meat, although one can digest and metabolize or burn up about seven times as much sugar as one can of meat in a day. It is not the food we digest and burn up that makes us fat or injures our health and endurance; it is the food we digest and fail to burn up. Some of us have an abnormal capacity for digesting starches and sugars and a very minor or poor capacity for burning up fats.

In human beings, it is due to plain laziness in most cases, but to deficiency of ductless gland function, such as diabetes, in others. Keep the calories within reasonable bounds, but don't try to count what you eat. It spoils eating.

MORE TIME ASKED FOR SPAN, TUBE

Estuary Plans Include the Amending of State Law and Placing of Proposal Before Voters of County

Immediate action to commit Alameda county to the construction of either a bridge or a tube across the estuary is to be taken as the result of the war department's ultimatum, issued yesterday, that after June 30 of this year a penalty of $5000 will attach to further delay in the matter.

Meanwhile a resolution adopted by the board of directors of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, asking for an extension of the time limit imposed by the war department, is today on its way to Washington, D. C.

Without waiting for the war department's answer to this request, however, steps were under way today which, it is expected, will definitely settle the bridge-or-tube controversy before the present time limit.

WILL GO BEFORE VOTERS. These include plans to place the question before the voters of the county, in the form of a proposed bond issue, at the general election on April 17.

They also include the urging of Alameda county's representation at the state legislature to hurry through the amended enabling act which is necessary before a tube project can be undertaken by the county.

The delay in solving the estuary problem, over which the war department has, apparently, now given up, was today obtained by Chairman William J. Hamilton of the board of supervisors.

DELAYED BY WAR. "We had acquired a site, and made plans and specifications for a bridge," he said, "when we were delayed by the war and by the war department's order which stopped us from proceeding during that period." Then, by the time we were again able to proceed, shipping interests along the estuary started agitation for a tube instead of a bridge. Action on the tube proposition has been held up, however, pending the correction of a defect in the state law.

The defect in the state law, it is explained, is contained in a special enabling act passed by the legislature at a recent session for the purpose of permitting construction of an estuary tube. After its passage it was declared by District Attorney Decoto to be unconstitutional as it then stood, because it gave the mayors of Oakland and Alameda equal authority with the supervisors in the disbursement of the county funds for the project. Under the state constitution, Decoto pointed out, such funds can be expended only by the authority of the supervisors.

It is expected that an amendment to this act, with the legal obstacles removed, will be introduced

New Dangers Beset Shasta Climbers as They Near Top

On the fourth day of their New Year's attempt to struggle up the arctic slopes of Mt. Shasta to the summit, Charles E. Warner of The TRIBUNE and Leonard Thatcher of the University of California, found marooned among snow-covered precipices in the dark, and in a blizzard.

Today's installment—the fourth in a series of six dealing with the hardships and adventures of these two in their fight to establish a winter mountain-climbing record—Warner relates exclusively for TRIBUNE readers how they escaped from the dangers that surrounded them on that occasion, only to find themselves face to face with new hazards the following day. The fifth installment will appear in tomorrow's issue.

By CHARLES E. WARNER.

PART IV

A third time I called out to Thatcher. My first two attempts to locate him, in the darkness and falling snow high up on the side of Mt. Shasta, had brought no answer from him. His silence after my second call left me almost convinced that we had become separated through our attempt to proceed on toward the summit in spite of the darkness in which we had been caught between moonset and sunrise. Raising my voice, I shouted for the third time: "Thatcher! Where are you?"

This time there came a momentary hush in the whistling of the wind around the bleak mountain-side, and I heard his voice. A moment later he was standing beside me on the steep trail. He had heard me each time, but his replies on the first two occasions had been swept away by the wind before they reached me.

The incident, although it had in the state legislature by the Alameda county delegation within the next few days, and given speedy passage.

Upon the authority of this act, if it passes, the alternative proposition of a bond issue for a bridge or a tube will then be placed upon the ballot for the general election April 17, it is announced. Adoption of one or the other by the voters of the county at that time will fulfill the requirements of the war department regarding definite action before June 30, it was pointed out today.

"If Alameda county shows its good faith by putting this matter before the people, we can avoid this penalty from the government, and can get for the first time some definite action in this long-delayed matter of a bridge or a tube," Hamilton said today.

Any business man can see that the tube is the only scientific solution of this estuary problem, as it will permit easy and uninterrupted travel between the two cities."

The war department's ultimatum that action must be taken by June 30, or the county will be assessed a penalty of $5000 by the government for every month's delay thereafter, was made known here yesterday in a telegram received by the Chamber of Commerce from Representative James H. MacLafferty in Washington. Following the receipt of the message, the board of directors of the organization held a meeting at which resolutions were adopted asking the government to extend the time limit and urging the local board of supervisors to proceed as rapidly as possible toward settling the matter. The resolutions read as follows:

"It is urged that the Board of Supervisors proceed as speedily as possible to have plans, specifications and estimates for both a bridge and a tube made."

"Because of the confused condition resulting from the repudiation of its bridge contract by the Southern Pacific railroad company, and because speedy action is prevented by reason of a Supreme Court decision, which, for the present, forbids the county supervisors from hiring special engineering help, we urge an extension of time for obeying orders of the war department."

The Board of Supervisors today, through James H. Holland, telegraphed Captain Tibbets, special emissary for the Chamber of Commerce in Washington, asking for a complete check-up and all details of the bridge situation, as announced yesterday by Representative MacLafferty's telegram. The wire requested that the information be sent immediately.

turned out all right in itself, served to emphasize graphically the danger of our attempting to proceed farther up the mountainside while the darkness remained as intense as it then was. We determined at once to abandon the thought of going on before daylight.

We were immediately faced with another problem. How were we to avoid freezing to death, if we were compelled to stand still for the two hours remaining before sunrise, with the frigid gale blowing against us, and our clothing becoming more and more saturated with wet snow?

We decided that the only course left us was to "dig in." Using our snowshoes as shovels, we began scooping out the snow, until we had a hole about six feet deep, and wide enough to hold both of us comfortably. Into this we descended, and for two hours we kept moving, slapping our hands, kicking our feet together, and stamping about the snow floor. We were cold, of course, but we were not exposed to the wind. Once we became impatient, and made a start up the trail again, but we were soon obliged to return to our shelter, which we located again with considerable difficulty.

When it finally became light enough to travel safely, the snow storm was still raging; so instead of proceeding on toward the summit, we returned to the lodge, to rest and prepare for another start later.

Having learned the previous night of the danger of getting caught on the mountainside after moonset and before dawn, we put off our second departure for the summit until 4:15 a. m. Settling forth at that hour, we headed up the coulee as before, with Thumb Rock as our first objective. We climbed more slowly than before, for we were no longer in as good physical condition as we had been when we reached Slason five days earlier.

After marching steadily upward for six hours, we found ourselves in the big snow field below Thumb Rock. In order to prepare for the climb ahead of us, we stopped there for a rest of ten minutes, which we partially employed in eating a quantity of raisins and dates.

Then we began the long, steep, hard pull toward the big rock. The grade up this last incline was from 30 to 50 degrees. The ascent was made all the more difficult by the fact that the snow crust was now hard, and slippery. It had become impossible to kick into it with our shoes in order to gain footholds. Our only recourse was to the ice-axe, which we had taken the precaution to bring with us. One by one, we had to hack out rough steps in the snow crust, climbing as though on a stairway which we built as we went along.

Far above us, toward the summit, we could see that the north wind was blowing strong, carrying the new snow off the mountain top with it, forming a vast, billowing cloud of fine-spun snow far out to the southward. Clouds began accumulating around the summit, coming down from the north. Below us, a south wind was blowing clouds in from the opposite direction, and these, heavy and moist and threatening, were swirling toward us up the draws and coulees. We saw that a violent storm was beginning to center about Mt. Shasta.

We discussed our situation. We were not far from Thumb Rock. In half an hour we could be beyond it, and on the last pull to the summit, traveling along a narrow ridge, which on one side dropped off sharply into Mud Creek, and on the other into the Whitney Glacier. The storm would then be raging as mountain storms do rage, with a high wind blowing; could we hold to the narrow ridge, or would we be swept by the wind over the edge?

Also, we had already made a hard fight against the mountain storms of mid-winter, and our vitality was low. If we reached the summit, we should certainly be compelled to remain there until the storm had abated. Could we do it in our weakened condition? The odds seemed to me to be about five to one against us. Nevertheless, I asked Thatcher if he were willing to go on and take a chance at "digging in" again. "Sure I will," he said. "Let's go!"

GOLDEN WEDDING IS CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Colegrove, pioneers of this city, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday at a reception at the residence of their daughter, Mrs. George Hildebrand, 2042 Tenth avenue. Surrounded by their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, the couple, in honor of the half-century of wedded life, received their friends Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hildebrand,

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Martin, Dr. and Mrs. John Albert Colegrove, of Los Angeles, Miss Vibella Martin, Miss Margaret Martin and Miss Margaret Colegrove, assisted in welcoming the guests of the day. Mrs. Shepard Jones presided at the table, assisted by Miss Vibella Jenks and the granddaughters of the aged couple. Masses of golden spring blossoms decked the reception rooms. More than 100 friends called. In the number were: Dr. and Mrs. Samuel London, Mrs. Milton Burdette Rooy, Mrs. Walter Curtiss Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. James Fennell, Mrs. Emma Wohlfrom, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Hildebrand and Miss Neil S. Gross.

BELEATED PARDON FOR OAKLAND MAN

Among the prisoners and paroled men pardoned by Governor Stephens just before his retirement from office was James W. Crowhurst, on parole on a seven-year term for robbery committed twenty years ago in Alameda county.

The pardon disclosed the peculiar connection of Crowhurst in two famous cases of California criminal history.

At the time of the James Denon murder case in Los Angeles for which Mrs. Peete, his housekeeper, is serving a sentence at San Quentin, he was called as a witness. He was employed in Denon's home at the time of the murder, as a plumber. His past record was examined and rumors soon connected him as a principal in the murder mystery. This was soon disproved but it was shown he had served time for robbery on a seven-year sentence from Alameda county and had been a witness in the Thomas W. Cook robbery and slaying in Oakland in 1904.

When 15 or 16 years of age Crowhurst and another youth in East Oakland held up a man at the point of a revolver. The man turned upon them and took them into custody. The youths confessed and Crowhurst was sentenced to a term of seven years. He was on parole at the time of the Cook robbery and slaying and was called as a witness.

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

by Judd Mortimer Lewis

It was cold this morning and there was not any more slush under the snow. When we got to the top of the hill with our slays I asked Jubilee if he wanted a ride. He wagged his tail so I sat on my slay, with my feet to the front, and took him in front of me. I started us going and he ran like a horse. It was the swiftest hill we have had this winter, but a fella can't steer a slay sitting on the side of the hill and when I ran up on the side I flung over and me and Jubilee finished with the slay riding us.

Everybody laughed and Jubilee jumped around and barked like he had done something smart, but when I pulled the knee of my stocking down my knee was bleeding and you know me let her tie her handkerchief around it. Girls always carry handkerchiefs which is kinda funny when you think about it. Boys need them worse than girls do and they never carry them, except Whitney; but Whitney wears underclothes and it's a regular sissy.

After school my mother and aunt was grinning when I went in the house. They said they had been planning to go sliding on the hill!

And it looked like nothing was going to happen.

and wanted to take my slay, so me and Jubilee went with them when they had got all bundled up.

My mother got on first and put her feet up on the front of the slay, and I sat on the back of it with one foot sticking out for a rudder, and we went down the hill and away across the pond—because the heavier you are the farther you go when you slide down a hill. And my mother liked it and believed to my aunt to come on.

Peanuts put my ant on his slay and let her come by herself, and she came whizzing along and did not tip over or anything. And it looked like nothing was going to happen, but she put her foot down to the sides, just as she got to the railroad bank, and stood up—while she was still going, and she shot out from under her and she fell over frontwards on it with her nose. When she got up her nose began to bleed and the tears came out of her eyes.

I pulled down my stocking and took Youngie's handkerchief out of my knee and was going to wipe my nose with it, but she gave me a push and my heels caught on the snow at the side of the sled. I got down so hard my teeth snapped and she said: "Do not touch me with that vile rag!" Then her and my mother went home and my ant was fussing all the way up the hill. I think she was mad because she could not blame me for it, but my mother looked back and waved.

I told Youngie that I hoped when she grew up she would not ever be anybody's ant, and she said it she did she would be a good one. I done up my work and some of my apples and went to bed early. My ant's nose looks so funny that I was afraid if I stayed up I might laugh and get choked.

THE UTE ON A TOOT

A Utah girl named Rita had a cheetah for a pet. A cheetah is a panther cat, and dangerous, you bet. The cheetah learned from Rita how to be a mighty cutey. And Rita taught the cheetah, too, to eat a rattail fruit.

This Rita Roto Utah, was a tutor to a Ute.

Her duty was to try to teach the Ute to toot a flute.

The Ute, who got polluted, went upon an awful toot.

But not a toot upon a flute—a Ute upon a toot.

And while the Utah Ute was tight, and snooty too to boot.

He came all hoity-toity to the street of Rita Roto.

He thought he had the right to toot and beat a toot heart.

But Rita set the cheetah free to eat a bit of Ute.

A Rainy Day.

Rain—insistent—
Beats a tattoo on the roofs—
And leadens spirits that were gay—
But yesterday—
No cheering voices greet me now—
No smiling face—
As drearily I make my rounds—
For those who are stove-bound inside—
Pay no attention to the sound of shrilling whistle—
They save up all their bluest thoughts—
For days like this—
And sigh—and look on life as dismal task—
While those whose duties call them out—
Sink sober-eyed down into coats—
That bid defiance to the storm—
Or else dash madly on their way—
With umbrellas dripping—
And one must be adept at dodging—
If he would sidestep a collision—
With madly charging shopper clan—
From out of windows peek old women—
With eyes that haunt me—
They pause awhile, then walk away—
Back to the fire and huddle down—
And dream of yesterday—
For rainy days are days of retrospection—
I wonder where the birds have flown—
For I can hear no welcome note—
Ah—there is one high on a branch—
His head is underneath its wing—
A dreary little ball of feathers—
A foreign workman 'neath a tree—
Sits munching at some bread and cheese—
Just like a stray cat in your yard—
That gnaws upon a mouldy crust—
The while it watches warily—
For some unseen unfriendly token—
To come its way—
A homeless cat completes the spell—
That holds us close on rainy days—
It is a useful background—
But, hark, I hear a cheerful call—
The first I've heard since early morn—
For school is out—
And racing madly through the drip—
Come eager boys—
They chase each other round and round—
And never pause—
For boys must grow would they be men—
And rainy days are growing time—
And fresh-faced, bright-eyed little maids—
Just trip along—
Unmindful of the falling rain—
And tell their chums what teacher said—
It must be that we're getting old—
If we but sigh and mope and scold—
On rainy days.

THE CHRISTIANS LOSE JERUSALEM

It used to be the fashion to say that the "Crusades" (wars of the cross) were entirely caused by religion. Now we know there were other reasons. Religion cannot be blamed for all the bloodshed those wars caused.

One "other reason" was a desire for new homes. Travelers and pilgrims had often spoken of the "east," which had many Crusaders on toward Palestine. This was especially true of the younger sons of nobles. Usually they got little land when their fathers died. They saw a chance to get land in the Crusades.

It is a pity to have to say that in a cruel manner. When they captured Jerusalem they killed great numbers of prisoners. It is said they even picked up Turkish babies and buried them to death.

For a good many years, the Christians held hold of the Holy City. News of their victory brought more and more pilgrims from Europe. They settled over quite a stretch of land.

Of course the Turks did not like to have the Christians around. They did their best to drive them out of the country.

Bishops and priests in Europe began to ask for a new "holy war." This time the king of France and the emperor of Germany and equipment will become feasible by the use of bearings.

A great egg-shaped airplane is under construction in France, equipped with 700-horsepower motors, and designated to make approximately 250 miles an hour. The plane is described as of a "V" at an angle of 120 degrees and extending forward.

Propeller-shaped blades have been invented in France, to be fastened to disk and "be" wheels to aid in cooling them by circulation of air.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY by Ad Schuster

THERE was no one in Norcross who did not know Roger Bloom and few who knew his story. A huge man who carried his sixty years as easily as the gold-headed club he called a cane, he paid daily visits from his country home to the village.

In years past Roger had been an attorney, yet there was nothing now, save gestures and powers of oratory, to betoken the fact. He called himself a farmer and would never accept a case. Roger, and perhaps Martha Leonard, knew why he gave up a career to live by himself. It was when Martha married another man the bar lost a promising light and agriculture gained a convert. Roger Bloom was never heard to complain.

Norcross is a county seat. In the warm months the court house lawn is crowded with benches where the townfolk meet in the afternoon to knit and spin yarn. When there is a regular meeting the benches are moved inside as they are during terms of the circuit court. Of those indoor meetings Roger Bloom knew little. Outside he was a central figure.

It started during the war when Roger Bloom, the sole subscriber to the city paper, took to reading the despatches aloud to the men and women who gathered on the court house square. The big man held the paper clutched in one hand that he might wave the other, and his voice rose and fell with a powerful emphasis as he followed the fortunes of armies and diplomats in those troubled days. The town hung on his words, thrilled with victory and groaned with defeat.

"It is different when Roger reads it," men agreed. "He has a way about him of making you see them boys rushin' forward through the smoke and the dust right up to the blazin' mouths of the enemy guns." So it was when Roger read the news was real and dramatic. Silas Buford, who was stone deaf, and the telegraph man at the station were the only ones in town who missed a day of the readings.

Some of the interest may have waned when peace came and yet it is a tribute to Roger's oratory that most of the crowd remained constant. He interpreted the situation in Europe, read the crime stories, and a bit of everything that was in the news, his voice rolling over the square and loud enough to be heard, rumbling and unintelligible, at Main and State streets, three blocks away. Old men stopped their quilts to listen and women thrust out the way home from market. In Norcross Roger was an accepted institution.

"Here's an item from Stanley," Roger named a neighboring town. Then he read: "A movement is on foot here to run Wilson Watts for Congress from the Eleventh District." That's our district, ladies and gentlemen, and that's a piece of news for us."

Next day there was another story about the Watts campaign and Norcross began to look up the claims of the candidate. The city paper said he was a college graduate and exceptionally well fitted for the task. Roger had read it that very afternoon.

"All that prevents the formal announcement of the Watts candidacy," Roger read next day, "is some uncertainty regarding the attitude of Norcross. With an indication of support from that place Mr. Watts will consent to sacrifice his private business to run for office. It is our opinion that Norcross cannot do better than organize at once in his behalf."

The reader paused and one listener spoke up. "This is the first time I ever hear tell of the city paper coming out so strong for a man in the old Eleventh District. This paper wats must be a good one." Right there the committee was organized to call on Watts. Roger Bloom hitched up his horse and drove back to the farm. This time he took the upper road, one he had not used in years, and drove close to Stanley and past the Watts home.

The place was a large one and unpainted. A small boy, whistling, walked from the barn to the back porch. The orator of Norcross sat back in the carriage, that he might not be recognized from the house.

"Watts never was a good farmer," he said, "but he's a square man and will make a good Congressman." The horse jogged on. After he had turned on the road to take him home the man who read the newspaper to Norcross spoke to himself again. "Yes, he must be a good man to win Martha Leonard away from me. Well, she will make a fine looking wife for a Congressman."

One may hear him now if he visits Norcross, the old man reading to the few who listen. No one has ever discovered his secret—how he manufactured and read into the news the plan to make Martha Leonard and the man she married prosperous and happy.

Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World

I WROTE this the other day. I make no claim that it is poetry. As a poet I'm a good housekeeper. But some folks like it. And I know that I need it, whether you do or not. So I'm printing it here:

Have you ever stepped on the family cat?
Or forgotten to salt the stew?
Or lost the long list of those household jobs
Which you promised your wife you'd do?

Have you carried letters unmailed for weeks
Which are waiting you would post that night?
Have you talked too much with your lower jaw
And started the deuce of a fight?

Have you broken a heart by a thoughtless act,
Or failed someone's plan of flight,
Have you selfishly let a comrade sink
In the depths of some tragic plight?

Then by the black score of the things you've done,
And the things you forgot to do,

Here is a plan for the reinstatement of Mr. Arbuckle. You may not admire the notorious comedian, but you must admire the broad charity of the following plea. After all, why should Mr. Arbuckle have no opinion to put on the subject. This is primarily because I possess no opinion on this subject. I consider it an affair for the Arbuckle fans to settle and I never was an Arbuckle fan. But I would like to arise and have the public a few frank words on its general inconsequence. Mr. Arbuckle may or may not be guilty of the crime for which he was acquitted. I know nothing about it. But the fact is NOT GUILTY. But the fact is NOT GUILTY. But the fact is NOT GUILTY.

As I have remarked elsewhere, I have no opinion to put on the subject. This is primarily because I possess no opinion on this subject. I consider it an affair for the Arbuckle fans to settle and I never was an Arbuckle fan. But I would like to arise and have the public a few frank words on its general inconsequence. Mr. Arbuckle may or may not be guilty of the crime for which he was acquitted. I know nothing about it. But the fact is NOT GUILTY. But the fact is NOT GUILTY. But the fact is NOT GUILTY.

"MRS. MAY OSBORN."

A sadder picture than the following never rose before the eyes of the Geraldine column readers: "Dear Geraldine:

"Come close and listen to the pitiful story I heard from a friend yesterday morning and broadcast a message to our community assuring them you will stand by."

"My friend happened to be down town marketing when she noticed a beautiful girl about 17, dressed exquisitely, crossing the street talking to herself. She was looking up as if she heard birds singing. My friend thought she had lost her mind and watched her until she stopped on the street corner. Soon the expression changed to a horribly repulsive one—the eyes not seeming to focus. However, soon the girl looked back into her face and she went on talking and smiling as she disappeared."

"Shortly afterward my friend crossed a couple of streets to take a car home and a grain came across the same girl radiantly talking to herself. No policeman was in sight, so my friend stepped up to some ladies who had stopped to look at the unfortunate girl."

"Upon being asked if they thought the girl insane, they said: 'Oh, no—she has just taken dope. It always affects them like that. It is very expensive, but she is so well dressed she can afford it. She will be very morose in about three hours when the dope wears off and then she will get the craving for more, for the habit gets them after the first trial.' A car came along slowly and the girl boarded it. I said her fare from a dainty vanity case and disappeared."

"My friend has a girl the same age in an Oakland high school and the horror of an evil abroad like this sickens her. She told me the shock made her faint."

"Geraldine, dear, will you please publish this and warn this dear child and others of the danger of this horrible evil, whose fumes still haunt me?"

"We are in danger, Geraldine. Do, dear, get busy with this latest trouble and run it down. Lovingly, 'S. O. S.'"

I assure you, S. O. S., that the evil you describe sickens me as it does you. I surely wish I could 'un it down' as you ask. It would take a much more powerful agency than the Geraldine column, however, to combat such a horror. It may comfort you to know that this menace is being fought as never before. The latest step is to penalize the ships which willingly or unwittingly bring it in. One steamship has been penalized $1,000,000 within the last year. The owners are now placing guards on the ship to see that not a particle of 'hop' is smuggled aboard. Measures like this will speedily stamp it out. Let your pity go out to those who wait in the dark for their cargo. There is no more fearful hell on earth than they are knowing to day.

CLARICE PATTERNS

Made in an Afternoon
(No. 1612)
As the diagram plainly shows this house dress is very easy to make, in fact, it could be finished in an afternoon.

Gingham, chambray or percale trimmed with a contrasting material would make a very pretty morning frock, one that will tub well and that's easy to iron.

20c per yard would make the garment cost about 75c.

The pattern No. 1612 cuts in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 1/4 yards 36-inch material with 3/8 yard 36-inch contrasting.

How to Obtain Clarice Patterns Write your name and address plainly, including city, giving the number and size of such patterns as you want. Enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin (wrap coin carefully) for each pattern, and address your order to Clarice Patterns Bureau, Oakland TRIBUNE, Oakland, Cal. As these are ordered specially from Chicago, a few days should be allowed for delivery.

My Marriage Problems

Clara Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

THE EFFORT LILLIAN AND MADGE MADE TO CATCH THE INTRUDER.

"What is it, Madge? Ah-h!" Lillian's quick brain did not need my gasp of fright in answer to her question. She had seen the look of terrified amazement on my face as I stared past her toward the window, and even as she spoke she had whirled, leaped to the window and was pulling frantically at the adjuster screw.

"Quick, Madge," she commanded, and putting down my terror with an iron hand, I rushed to her side just as she tore the screen from its place, threw it out of the window, and with both hands at a queer-looking contrivance of knotted rope which hung just outside the window. I noticed that as she did so she sank to her knees, inside the window.

"Your knees. Grab it with me," she commanded, and I obeyed her, feeling my arms almost drawn out of my sockets as I did so, with the unseen weight which depended from the rope.

"Shake it hard. That's right. Can you keep it up if I take off one hand?"

I had not the slightest idea of how to shake it, but I tried. I realized that upon that rope beneath me there was something human, evil, which Lillian would not capture if possible.

"She wasn't her hand, gradually, so that they should be no sudden strain on mine, fumbled in her blouse, a gesture which chilled me. I knew, of course, that Lillian, in time of stress, is never without a ray of reason, but the prospect of her using it was terrifying.

"It isn't Smith," I gasped hastily. "The face looked like a boy."

"I'm not going to shoot him," she said impatiently, then she thrust the revolver through the window and fired three shots toward the peaceful sky above us.

There was a violent shaking of the ropes, but no sound came from our muscles, then a thud upon the earth below, followed by an involuntary groan, quickly smothered.

"Look out the light!" Lillian whispered the words close to my ear, and I hastened to obey her, noticing that she drew back to the side of the window as she spoke.

"Keep looking out the window," she said in a whisper, as I started toward her. "He may take a notion to answer that last message of mine, and there's no need of giving him a target."

"When you leave the window I shall," I said firmly.

"Not now, though," she retorted. "I'm not exposed to his fire. But you can help, at that. Get up the other side of the window, so you can watch that direction. He'll have to crawl across the ropes, and if he does he'll be going toward the open r.d."

I imitated her strategy, shielded myself at the side of the window, and peered out into the darkness. There was a heavy scuffling motion on the ground beneath the window, then a rustling movement in the grass. I strained my eyes, of course, unable to distinguish form or color, save a glimmer of light when the enemy moved along the ground, melting into the darkness.

"Going that way," I whispered, nudging Lillian.

"All right," she whispered back. "Now, let's pull up the contrivance. I thought that would be the next thing."

From the other side of the house rose a sound as of kicking, and a long, hysterical wail. Katie's voice, mingled with a hoarse, scuffling cry from my mother-in-law, shrill little cries from Junior, and one scream, short, quickly cut off, from Marion.

It was not necessary for me to next door to Katie was hysterical with fright, Mother Graham, more angry than alarmed, that Junior was crying because he had been suddenly awakened, and that the door had been forced.

terror and would remain quiet until some one came.

"Go to them, quickly," Lillian said. "I'll manage. Tell them we did it. We heard somebody trying to steal the chickens, and that I fired the revolver to frighten off the thieves."

I departed, not without a qualm of misgiving as to my plan. I said to myself grimly that she was perfectly capable of leaving the window by the rope ladder and pursuing the fugitive single-handed should the thought occur to her. But there was no alternative for me, and I hurried to the other part of the house, my pace accelerated by Katie's crescendo of sound.

I went to her door first. I feared that she would have it down with her frantic knocking and kicking. I unlocked the door, calling reassuringly to her as I did so. As I opened the door she fell against me, her swooning clutching at my dress frantically.

"Oh, woe it, Missis Graham, you keeled, eat dot babies keeled?"

"Margaret!" My mother-in-law's voice warned me that I must not delay in releasing her.

"Nobody's hurt, Katie," I said, grasping her arm firmly. "Stop that noise and come with me while I unlock Mother Graham's door."

I fairly carried her down the corridor, so helpless from fright was she—and unlocked my mother-in-law's door to confront that lady, terrible in her offended majesty.

"It was an explanation of this proceeding alone, Margaret," she said. "And be assured I shall write Richard to come home immediately. To think I have lived to my age to be looking after my own son's wife!"

It is what puts the MAN back in MANHOOD.

It gives back to a man the independence and control over his own personal and family life that are his fundamental right and his most instinctive need. Without these a completely self-reliant and dominant manhood cannot thrive. Man was intended to be a dominant independent being. Every detail of his affairs that he relinquishes to others means that much less independence and dominance, that much less of mental, moral and physical strength.

It matters not that in the world of business 95 per cent of all men are employees and take orders from the other 5 per cent. That is but an expedient of modern business and is a mere detail of living.

It is quite another thing to let this dependence on others' initiative extend into your private life. To turn over to others the control of the place that is the center of your whole personal and family life is no good for your manhood. If you are not independent, you are dependent.

You are either your own man or you are someone else's man.

You are certainly not your own man if there is in the whole world no place where you can keep your family and rear your children under conditions and influences of your own making.

The act of putting your own roof over your head gives you back the independence you need. It gives you freedom from the fear and uncertainty you cannot escape at times when you depend on others.

It proves your ability and gives you confidence in yourself. It gives you the courage and self-reliance to strike out boldly and exact your full rights from the world, without fear or favor. It gives the spirit that wins through sheer positiveness and refusal to consider defeat.
